President Vetoes More Measures To Curb Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon promised more pre-election vetoes today of bills

Roundtown

DON'T forget to move the hands of your clock back one hour before going to bed tonight ... It won't change the time the chickens wake up, but it might save you from being an hour early for church Sunday.

THAT spooky night of Oct. 30th will soon be with us much to the delight of Pickaway County youngsters ... On this night, swarms of make-believe goblins will be out trick or treating and attending Halloween parties ... Each year, however, many of these children become pedestrian victims resulting from poor safety training, lack of supervision or careless motorists ...

Dr. Frank Moore of the Pickaway County Health Department and Paul Roan of the City Health Department, have issued a joint statement outlining some safety plans parents should follow before Monday night ...

Some of these are: cross streets only at intersections with traffic signals or well-lighted pedestrian cross walks; look both ways before crossing any street; children should stay together in groups of at least four and avoid running or shoving; white shopping bags or bags made of reflective materials should be carried for treats; costumes should include decorative pieces of reflector materials; make-up should replace masks if vision is obscured; don't wear thin, sheer or baggy clothing; flame-proof all decorations and costumes; go with your youngster to collect Halloween treats; make sure child stays in his own neighborhood and visits only "friendly" houses; children should be encouraged to bring all treats home first to detect if the treats have been tampered with in any way.

ELMER Walker, Arlington, Va., stopped into the Herald office Saturday morning with a relic of WW I ...

Elderly Man Kills Housebreaker

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Police said an unidentified man, wearing jeans and an Army fatigue jacket, was shot to death Friday afternoon as he tried to force his way into the apartment of an elderly east side man.

Frederick Butler, 65, told police the man followed him up stairs to the apartment. Butler said the man pulled a gun, tried to force his way inside. Butler said he ran to his bedroom, got a gun of his own and the two exchanged shots.

No charges have been filed.

passed by the Democratic controlled Congress before flying to Ohio for a five-hour motorcade taking him and wife Pat from Cleveland to Warren.

Nixon, who announced pocket vetoes yesterday of nine bills, readied another batch for announcement just prior to departure for his Ohio foray and a quick airport stop on the way home at Saginaw, Mich.

The President argued that vetoes announced Friday would curb federal spending by about $2.75 billion in the period ending June 30, 1974.

Nixon, using terms he has sometimes applied to his more controversial decisions involving the Vietnam war, said he had received strong advice that the vetoes just before the election "would be politically very damaging."

Were he to sign the bills, Nixon said, he would violate "my promise to the American people that I will do all in my power to avoid the necessity of a tax increase next year."

The vetoed bills included a $30.5-billion appropriation for health, education, welfare and labor and veteran vocational rehabilitation measures.

Nixon's stated goal is to hold federal spending to a record $250 billion in the fiscal year that ends next June 30.

Tuskegee Medical Study Ends

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Health, Education and Welfare says it will move quickly to end the widely criticized Alabama syphilis study.

The department agreed to the immediate termination recommended Friday by a special panel set up by HEW to investigate the 40-year syphilis experiment known as the Tuskegee Study.

The nine-member citizens panel also recommended a thorough physical examination for all survivors of the study followed by full medical treatment.

During the Tuskegee Study, begun in 1932 by the U.S. Public Health Service in rural Macon County, Ala., more than 430 black men who had syphilis never received treatment for it in order that doctors could determine through eventual autopsies what damage the disease did to the men's bodies.

The experiment continued even after penicillin became known as a safe, effective cure for syphilis.

At least 28, and possibly as many as 100, of the study participants died as a direct result of untreated syphilis.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI, which never before had acknowledged that it maintained files on Congress members and candidates, now says that it had been doing so for 22 years but stopped the practice Friday.

"Such a program is not essential to FBI operations," said Acting Director L. Patrick Gray III as he ordered an end to it.

"I believe it is obvious that it can be misinterpreted easily as a program to investigate Congress members and congressional candidates," he added in the a share of the title with a 24-7 win on the Red and Black turf. The Tigers had beaten Washington C. H.,

Wilmington, Hillsboro, Greenfield and capped it off with the victory over Trace.

The coveted gold football will now come to rest in the Circleville showcase.

59 Persons Die In French Air Disaster

CLERMONT-FERRAND, FRANCE (AP) — Fifty-nine were killed Friday night when a domestic French airliner with 68 aboard crashed into a wooded hill in Central France and burst into pieces, authorities said.

All five crew members perished. Everyone aboard was believed to be French.

There was no explosion or fire.

The nine survivors, who included a five-year-old boy, were carried by stretcher to tractors and taken to ambulances parked on a road.

Rescue efforts were blocked for two hours when a boulder rolled onto the forest trail and blocked movement of the tractors. The survivors were hospitalized but initial reports indicated none was in danger.

The four-engine turboprop, a British-made Vickers Viscount, was owned by Air-Inter. It was en route from Lyon to Clermont-Ferrand.

Ground stations lost radio contact with the plane about 10 minutes before it was due to land.

Airport authorities at Clermont said the Viscount flew over the airport and then, with radio contact cut, made a complete turnabout for unknown reasons.

Rescue teams, including the National Police, cut through dense forest to reach the wreckage.

One of the survivors, 55-year-old Marcel Delcroix, said he often flew from Lyon and "this time I had the impression that something was wrong. I told the young woman sitting alongside me. I felt the plane was going to crash. I undid my belt and was thrown out. I waited for help for about six hours."

Five-year-old Sylvain Monton-nex fought back tears and repeatedly told rescuers that he wasn't hurt.

Gettysburg Cemetery Closed By Army

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Gettysburg National Cemetery, opened in 1863, when President Lincoln delivered his famous address, will be forced to turn away new applicants.

The cemetery opened its last new grave Friday for the burial of Andrew Lightfoot, 80, of Detroit, Mich., a World War I veteran. He died Oct. 18 while visiting his daughter in Philadelphia.

Viet Cong Will Abide By Agreement

SAIGON (AP) — The Viet Cong pledged today to "absolutely respect and carry out all provisions" of the Paris peace agreement worked out by the United States and North Vietnam, and declared there would be "no liquidation" of opposing forces in South Vietnam.

At the same time, President Nguyen Van Thieu placed South Vietnam's armed forces on a general alert as Communist troops launched a land-grab drive in anticipation of the cease-fire going into effect soon, allied officials said.

Reports circulated in Washington, meanwhile, that presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger's departure for Paris was imminent. There were indications that a new session between Kissinger and the North Vietnamese could come as early as this weekend. But White House press secretary Ronald Ziegler said: "As in the past, we will announce further meetings" when they occur.

In its first official statement on the peace package, the Viet Cong's Liberation Radio said responsible Viet Cong representatives "will immediately conduct negotiations with the present Saigon administration to settle in concert together the internal problems of South Vietnam."

"These will be settled on the basis of equality, mutual respect, and nonliquidation of each other."

"We have every good will attitude necessary to end the war, restore peace, eradicate all hatred and anger, realize national concord, and together heal our war wounds, unite with each other, love and care for each other, and to live together in happiness and prosperity."

The pledge to abide by the terms of the Paris agreement came at the end of a long statement that started with a declaration that the United States must sign the pact if it wanted an end to the Vietnam war. The statement also accused both Saigon and Washington of "treacherous maneuvers threatening the entire question of peace in Vietnam," and said unless the agreement was signed by Tuesday, military attacks in South Vietnam would be intensified.

Sources said Communist command documents captured in the Saigon region had ordered Viet Cong troops to divide into small groups and infiltrate into hamlets and villages with the purpose of setting up propaganda machinery for a cease-fire, harassing government troops and establishing a Viet Cong presence.

Across South Vietnam, Communist troops carried out more than 100 shelling and terror attacks for the third successive day, the Saigon command said, the most since the 1968 Tet offensive.

The Da Nang area was shelled before dawn for the second time in four days. Nearly 30 rockets hit in and around the air base.

McGovern Calls In HHH, 'Archie Bunker' For Help

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — With assistance from television's Archie Bunker and Minnesota's Hubert H. Humphrey, Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern is seeking to dispel any image of radicalism lingering about him in crucial California.

Humphrey chimed in by telephone, and actor Carroll O'Connor via a campaign commercial, as McGovern broadcast his campaign wares in a question-and-answer session televised statewide Friday night.

In between, McGovern got calls from some critics who accused him of mudslinging and mind-changing. "The show is heating up," he said. McGovern also heard from the man who wanted to know why he keeps saying President Nixon should have ended the war four years ago "when he wasn't even in office."

McGovern acknowledged Nixon didn't take office until Jan. 20, 1969, but said "there's no point in quibbling over a few weeks."

"I want to give him credit for any settlement, even if it comes on the day before the election," McGovern said. "I'm not interested in a political issue, I'm not interested in what my statements on the war do to me politically."

O'Connor, who plays Archie Bunker, the bigoted blue-collar star of the television program "All in the Family," appeared in a commercial denouncing what he called "the radicalism of the present administration."

"Radicalism is what any conservative man must try to remove from authority, and that is why I as a conservative man am going to vote with confidence for Sen. George McGovern," said O'Connor-Bunker.

Humphrey called in from Mankato, Minn., for a 3½-minute chat with McGovern, whose views he sharply denounced during their California presidential primary campaign.

McGovern asked him to spend some more time campaigning for the ticket in California. "We think with your added voice to what we've already said out here, it may provide that extra margin that we need to carry California on Nov. 7," the nominee said.

GM Strikes May Pinch Automaker

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

More than 3,000 workers were off their jobs Friday at the General Motors Assembly Division (GMAD) Leeds plant near Kansas City, while possible walkouts loomed for four more GM facilities, as apparent pre-1973 contract talk skirmishes continued between the automaker and the United Auto Workers.

Negotiations had apparently continued unabated for some 24 hours before the Leeds walkout. Central to the dispute are production quotas and installation of some automated equipment, UAW local president Charles Tyle said.

"Last week we were real happy with the progress of the negotiations. We settled some very hard issues. All of a sudden the settling stopped," Tyle said.

Industry sources said each of the eight mini-strikes suffered by GM since the 15-week Norwood, Ohio, walkout has hurt the automaker worse than the union.

Decreased car production has reportedly pinched GM, but, because none of the strikes have lasted beyond a week, the UAW has not been forced to dip into its strike fund.

Perhaps the next to go will be GM facilities in Doraville, Ga., and Saginaw, Mich. — union leaders have given the automaker five-day letters at both sites. Though no definite walkouts have been set, workers can go out anytime after the five-day period expires next week.

Only slightly more stable were the Fisher Body plant at Hamilton, Ohio, and the GMAD facility at St. Louis. Deadlines there are being extended on a day-to-day basis because, the UAW said, talks are continuing satisfactorily.

Great Team Effort Stops Trace, 24-7

By BILL McGAFFNEY
Herald Sports Editor

Opportunistic football and a tremendous defense gave Circleville the South Central Ohio League championship Friday night as the Tigers rolled over Miami Trace, 24-7, before a jam packed, rain soaked crowd in the Red and Black arena.

The fighting Tigers completely dominated the contest as they held the vaunted Trace attack to 50 yards rushing and never let the passing game get off the ground.

It was a great team effort by a bunch of kids who were not even considered a serious threat in the title race when the season started.

Dave Truex tallied twice, Eddy Richter ripped into paydirt and Phil Roll kicked a 17-yard field goal and three conversions before the Panthers lit the lights on the scoreboard in the fourth quarter.

BUT, it was the magnificent Cook Crunchers who destroyed any offensive attempt on the part of Trace. They smothered the receivers, harassed the passer and pulverized any ball carrier who dared to enter the realm of the Tiger.

They remembered the humiliation they suffered at Trace last year — Oh! How they remembered — and wiped it from the slate with their performance Friday night.

Despite having a share of the title already in their pocket, the Tigers had no idea of sharing it with anyone.

THEY wanted it all — and that is what they got.

Finishing league play with a 5-0 mark means that the coveted gold football will once again reside in the Circleville trophy case.

A team that takes advantage of the breaks is a team that is hard to beat and that's what the Tigers did.

TWICE they covered Trace fumbles like nap on a rug and converted them into touchdowns. When a Trace punt only carried two yards, the Tigers' eyes lit up like the tilt on a pin ball machine and once again they were off and running like the 11th person at a 10 item sale.

"This has to be the biggest win of my career," Circleville Coach Larry Cook beamed as the water flew in a jubilant Tiger dressing room.

"Our kids worked hard for this moment and it all paid off tonight," Cook stated. "All the credit belongs to the kids and my coaches who certainly deserve it."

"We did what we felt we could do against Trace. We mixed our defense and took away their passing game. Our game plan was to control the ball on offense and that's just what we did," Cook continued.

"These kids are constantly improving and I honestly feel that we will continue to get better," Cook offered over the din of the joyous celebration.

Control of the ball wins football games and this proved true as the Tigers had the ball for 66 plays while the Panthers were in possession 40 times.

THE Tigers compiled 198 yards on the ground as the offensive line ripped open gaping holes for the hard running backs to shoot through. Eddy Richter battered and blasted his way for 128 yards in 25 carries to keep the Tiger tornado rolling.

Dave Webb twisted and turned his way downfield for 32 yards, Truex rambled for 22, Gary Mogan rolled over people for 16 and Mike Speakman added two yards to the total.

Tony Grooms carried the Panthers attack with 57 yards in 12 attempts but the Trace quarterbacks came up with minus yardage to offset this.

Circleville went to the air once and completed it for 11 yards while Trace put the ball in the air 11 times and completed four for 100 yards, including a 61-yard touchdown screen pass.

But it was Tom Frericks, Keith Davis, Reggie Radcliff, Dale Imler, Stuart Moore, Joe

FBI To Dump Files On Solons, Candidates

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI, which never before had acknowledged that it maintained files on Congress members and candidates, now says that it had been doing so for 22 years but stopped the practice Friday.

"Such a program is not essential to FBI operations," said Acting Director L. Patrick Gray III as he ordered an end to it.

"I believe it is obvious that it can be misinterpreted easily as a program to investigate Congress members and congressional candidates," he added in the statement released to news-men. "Therefore, I have decided to terminate this program as of today."

Gray said that, although the agency had maintained files of biographical data on congressional members and candidates, it had not conducted full-fledged investigations of them.

The FBI came under attack during the last years of the late J. Edgar Hoover's reign for allegedly tapping telephones of some congressmen or investigating them in other ways.

The Ohio incident involved an FBI agent in Lorain County, who had been making inquiries about the background of John

was appointed acting director, said:

"I have not found any evidence whatsoever of the existence of secret files or political dossiers."

Friday, though, Gray said an incident in Ohio brought to his attention the fact that the FBI since 1950 had compiled data on Congress members and candidates from newspapers, magazines, campaign literature and various reference publications.

M. Ryan, Democratic candidate for Congress in Ohio's 13th district.

Gray said the agent's inquiries "were not authorized and were in violation of specific instructions that the gathering of information on congressional candidates is to be made from readily available published sources only, and not through any outside inquiries."

The FBI, he added, "is conducting an internal administrative investigation of this agent's actions to determine why this instruction was not followed."

The agent, Lee Kias, was functioning "as an interested voter" in asking about Ryan, said John Burns, agent in charge of the Cleveland FBI office.

Ryan, a realtor, is running against Republican incumbent Charles A. Mosher.

The initial purpose of the data collection, Gray said, "was to provide briefing material for FBI officials who might desire it before making a call on a newly elected congressman or senator."

"In short, the routine was a part of the congressional relations program of the FBI."

GM Strikes May Pinch Automaker

Decreased car production has reportedly pinched GM, but, because none of the strikes have lasted beyond a week, the UAW has not been forced to dip into its strike fund.

Perhaps the next to go will be GM facilities in Doraville, Ga., and Saginaw, Mich. — union leaders have given the automaker five-day letters at both sites. Though no definite walkouts have been set, workers can go out anytime after the five-day period expires next week.

Only slightly more stable were the Fisher Body plant at Hamilton, Ohio, and the GMAD facility at St. Louis. Deadlines there are being extended on a day-to-day basis because, the UAW said, talks are continuing satisfactorily.

Great Team Effort Stops Trace, 24-7

By BILL MCGAFFNEY
Herald Sports Editor

Opportunistic football and a tremendous defense gave Circleville the South Central Ohio League championship Friday night as the Tigers rolled over Miami Trace, 24-7, before a jam packed, rain soaked crowd in the Red and Black arena.

The fighting Tigers completely dominated the contest as they held the vaunted Trace attack to 50 yards rushing and never let the passing game get off the ground.

It was a great team effort by a bunch of kids who were not even considered a serious threat in the title race when the season started.

Dave Truex tallied twice, Eddy Richter ripped into paydirt and Phil Roll kicked a 17-yard field goal and three conversions before the Panthers lit the lights on the scoreboard in the fourth quarter.

BUT, it was the magnificent Cook Crunchers who destroyed any offensive attempt on the part of Trace. They smothered the receivers, harassed the passer and pulverized any ball carrier who dared to enter the realm of the Tiger.

They remembered the humiliation they suffered at Trace last year — Oh! How they remembered — and wiped it from the slate with their performance Friday night.

Despite having a share of the title already in their pocket, the Tigers had no idea of sharing it with anyone.

THEY wanted it all — and that is what they got.

Finishing league play with a 5-0 mark means that the coveted gold football will once again reside in the Circleville trophy case.

A team that takes advantage of the breaks is a team that is hard to beat and that's what the Tigers did.

TWICE they covered Trace fumbles like nap on a rug and converted them into touchdowns. When a Trace punt only carried two yards, the Tigers' eyes lit up like the tilt on a pin ball machine and once again they were off and running like the 11th person at a 10 item sale.

"This has to be the biggest win of my career," Circleville Coach Larry Cook beamed as the water flew in a jubilant Tiger dressing room.

"Our kids worked hard for this moment and it all paid off tonight," Cook stated. "All the credit belongs to the kids and my coaches who certainly deserve it."

"We did what we felt we could do against Trace. We mixed our defense and took away their passing game. Our game plan was to control the ball on offense and that's just what we did," Cook continued.

"These kids are constantly improving and I honestly feel that we will continue to get better," Cook offered over the din of the joyous celebration.

Control of the ball wins football games and this proved true as the Tigers had the ball for 66 plays while the Panthers were in possession 40 times.

THE Tigers compiled 198 yards on the ground as the offensive line ripped open gaping holes for the hard running backs to shoot through.

Eddy Richter battered and blasted his way for 128 yards in 25 carries to keep the Tiger tornado rolling.

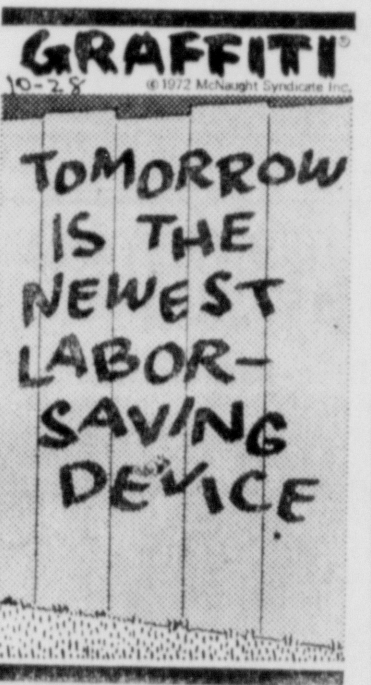

Dave Webb twisted and turned his way downfield for 32 yards, Truex ramblled for 22, Gary Mogan rolled over people for 16 and Mike Speakman added two yards to the total.

Tony Grooms carried the Panthers attack with 57 yards in 12 attempts but the Trace quarterbacks came up with minus yardage to offset this.

Circleville went to the air once and completed it for 11 yards while Trace put the ball in the air 11 times and completed four for 100 yards, including a 61-yard touchdown screen pass.

But it was Tom Frericks, Keith Davis, Reggie Radcliff, Dale Imler, Stuart Moore, Joe

FBI To Dump Files On Solons, Candidates

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI, which never before had acknowledged that it maintained files on Congress members and candidates, now says that it had been doing so for 22 years but stopped the practice Friday.

"Such a program is not essential to FBI operations," said Acting Director L. Patrick Gray III as he ordered an end to it.

"I believe it is obvious that it can be misinterpreted easily as a program to investigate congressmen and congressional candidates," he added in the statement released to newsmen. "Therefore, I have decided to terminate this program as of today."

Gray said that, although the agency had maintained files of biographical data on congressional members and candidates, it had not conducted full-fledged investigations of them.

The FBI came under attack during the last years of the late J. Edgar Hoover's reign for allegedly tapping telephones of some congressmen or investigating them in other ways.

The FBI denied it. And Gray, in interviews shortly after he was appointed acting director, said:

"I have not found any evidence whatsoever of the existence of secret files or political dossiers."

Friday, though, Gray said an incident in Ohio brought to his attention the fact that the FBI since 1950 had compiled data on Congress members and candidates from newspapers, magazines, campaign literature and various reference publications.

The Ohio incident involved an FBI agent in Lorain County, who had been making inquiries about the background of John

M. Ryan, Democratic candidate for Congress in Ohio's 13th district.

Gray said the agent's inquiries "were not authorized and were in violation of specific instructions that the gathering of information on congressional candidates is to be made from readily available published sources only, and not through any outside inquiries."

The FBI, he added, "is conducting an internal administrative investigation of this agent's actions to determine why this instruction was not followed."

The agent, Lee Kias, was functioning "as an interested voter" in asking about Ryan, said John Burns, agent in charge of the Cleveland FBI office.

Ryan, a realtor, is running against Republican incumbent Charles A. Mosher.

The initial purpose of the data collection, Gray said, "was to provide briefing material for FBI officials who might desire it before making a call on a newly elected congressman or senator."

"In short, the routine was a part of the congressional relations program of the FBI."

34 to the Tigers 29 and a pair of first downs. But Radcliff shot the gap on the next play and dropped Jones for a 3-yard loss to slow down the drive.

On fourth down, Jones was again racked up by Keith Davis and Richter and the Tigers took over.

THE Tigers picked up two first downs but a crucial penalty killed the drive and the Tigers punted to the Trace 40 as the first period ended.

Any thoughts of generating momentum by the Panthers died when Keith Davis again rattled Jones' bones for a huge loss and Trace was punting again.

The wet ball skidded off the kickers foot and carried two yards, giving Circleville possession on the Trace 29.

Richter took over, aided by some great blocking in the offensive line, and slammed his way into the money zone from the 4-yard on the fifth carry with 6:52 still showing on the clock.

Roll again booted a beauty and the Tigers were out in front 14-0.

Big hits by Imler, Mogan and Frericks killed the offensive efforts of the Panthers on their next series, and the rest of the half was an exchange of punts.

ON the first play of the second half, Trace fumbled and Moore pounced on it like a kitten after a ball of yarn on the Trace 37.

The Tigers moved to the 24 where Truex on a keeper right, aided by a bone shattering block by Mogan, roared to the 12.

Richter moved to the six and Truex rammed into the stack on four consecutive carries to score from the 1-yard line. Roll did it again—21-0 with 6:48 left in the third canto.

Trace moved to their own 46 but a conduct penalty set the Panthers back 15 yards when quarterback Jones was ejected from the game for taking a punch at one of the Tigers.

Once again the Panthers punted and Circleville had possession at midfield.

Circleville Junior High Band Joins In Pre-Game Show

Last night fans at the Circleville-Miami Trace football game got a chance to see a preview of things to come from the Tiger Band. It was the annual Junior High Band Night.

The pregame got underway when the CJHS Band entered the field to the march "Days Of Glory." The junior high band then featured the majorettes, Red & Black units and the sousaphone section to the music of "Tea for Two for Tubas". The band went on to play "Junior Jive" lead by trumpet soloist Warren Yamarick. The junior band exited the field to "Tigers Bold".

The Circleville Senior Tiger Band took to the turf playing and marching to "Across the Field." The fans then joined in the singing of the Circleville Alma Mater, "The Red and the Black". The band then went on to play "It's a Grand Old Flag" and moved into block formation. The senior high band was then joined by the junior high band, and the combined Circleville bands, under the direction of Gary Dean, played "The Star Spangled Banner."

After two quarters of exciting football and a fine halftime show by the Miami Trace Band, the Tiger Band marched on to the field and presented a patriotic show entitled "Stars and Stripes Around The World." The Band's tour of the world started off in Spain to the tune of the "Stars and Stripes Forever" (only the rhythm was changed to add a bit of Spanish flair). During the song a bull suddenly appeared and chased band member Irv Smith, while running Smith lost his pants. The band quickly then changed from "sunny" Spain to the land of waltzes and did a dance routine. The Tigers went on to feature their majorettes in a tour through the Middle East. From there the band taveled to the Iron Curtain and Russia, after that they went to the far away land of China.

After all that traveling the Tiger Band brought us home via the southwest playing "The Stars and Stripes" Texas Style. After being attacked by the Indians the Tigerettes joined the band with a bit of flag pagentry the music of "The Stars and Stripes Forever."

12 Men Escape From County Jail

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A dozen convicts, some of them believed armed, escaped at knifepoint from the Albany County Jail late Friday and set off a manhunt in the area.

Guard Eddie Beauparlant, 65, said an inmate held a knife at his throat at his main-gate post while another prisoner ripped his wallet from his trouser pocket and took the keys. He said $700 was in the wallet.

At first five men were thought to have escaped in a van used by the sheriff's department to transfer prisoners. Later, seven others were discovered missing.

Authorities said they believed the escapees were armed with at least two pistols, a shotgun and a knife.

VC, Saigon Prove Junior Partners In Peace Crunch

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The horse trading that hampered out Vietnam peace terms leaves little doubt that the original combatants, the Saigon government and the Viet Cong, are much the junior partners in the end.

In the course of the bargaining both sides evidently made important concessions. But the bargaining was done by representatives of the United States and North Vietnam. The pronouncements were made by them, while the Saigon regime and the Viet Cong's "Provisional Revolutionary Government" waited on the sidelines.

The Vietnam war began as a contest between a guerrilla movement dominated by Communists and a Saigon regime consolidating its hold after the 1954 ouster of France and the Geneva settlement. The guerrillas were aided by the North but for years there was no overt infiltration of northern troops. The South was assisted by the Americans, but for years only a handful of U.S. advisers was on the scene.

Now, after many years of bloodletting, the Americans and North Vietnamese emerge at peace negotiations as the main antagonists, while the others just look on.

The Americans' partner, represented by President Nguyen Van Thieu, seemed to be dragged kicking and screaming in the direction of compromise.

There is no public indication yet of how Hanoi's junior partner is taking it all. But the Viet Cong's subordinate role was indicated, for example, in the issuance of instructions from North Vietnam on when and how to expect the cease-fire.

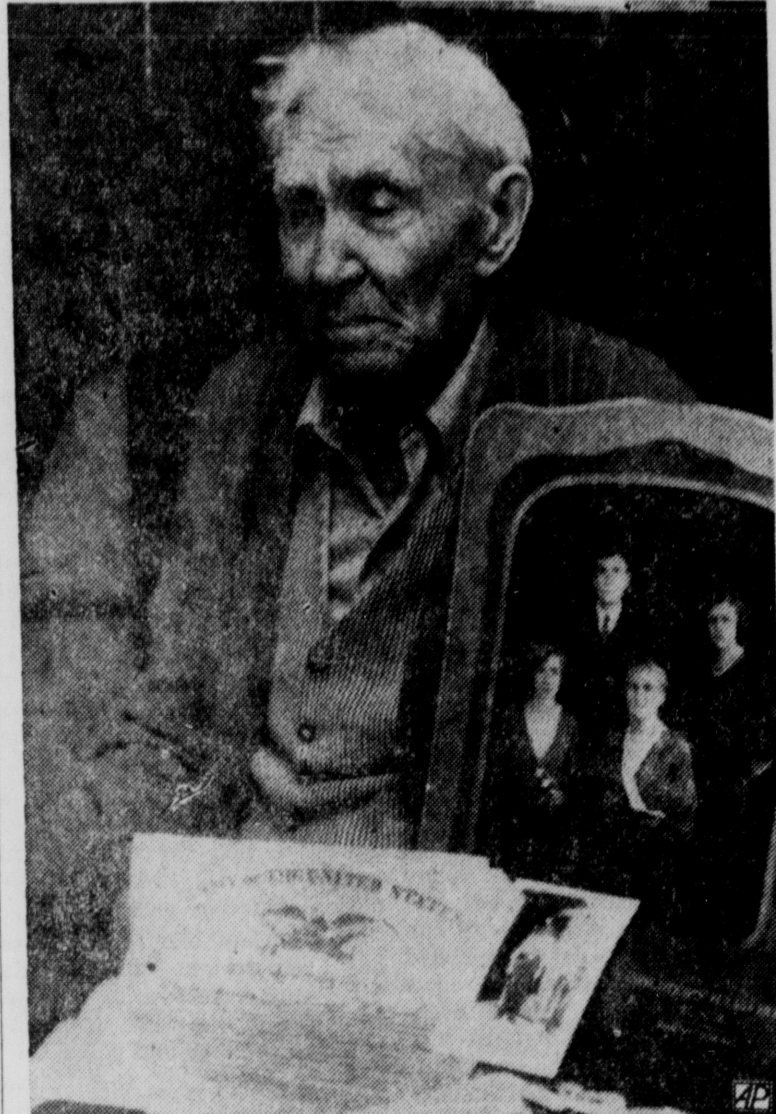

President Nixon's chief negotiator, Henry A. Kissinger, noted that one point at issue has been whether the United States would sign the agreement for South Vietnam. He conceded that it was "understandable" that the South Vietnamese might want to sign their own peace treaty.

The Americans and North Vietnamese came a long way, even from where they were less than a year ago. Then the Americans said they would withdraw all remaining forces within six months of an agreement. Now period for total withdrawal is down to 60 days.

The North Vietnamese had insisted on unconditional U.S. withdrawal of all men and materiel and dismantlement of all bases. Nothing is said about materiel and bases in the terms broadcast by Hanoi. The Viet Cong is unlikely to welcome the idea of all that hardware remaining in the hands of South Vietnam's million-man army and police forces.

Since the beginning of peace talks in Paris, Hanoi had demanded that President Thieu be dumped. It repeated this demand as recently as Sept. 27 in an article in Hoc Tap, the official party magazine. That article called for an interim regime to arrange elections, with the Saigon regime included "except for the notorious traitor Thieu." Now it is willing to let Thieu head one of the three segments.

McGovern Deals Warily With Vietnam Peace Issue

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern is dealing warily with the prospect of a pre-election Vietnam settlement, while contending that President Nixon can get no peace terms now that were not "there for the asking four years ago."

Indeed, McGovern told one campaign rally Thursday that the currently proposed peace terms are little different from those on which the French got out of Indochina 18 years ago.

That, and the vow that he, as president, would force the Saigon government out of the way of an immediate settlement, constitutes the McGovern campaign offensive on the peace issue, one that was the cornerstone of his campaign in the first place.

McGovern said in response to a question that he did not want to describe the settlement drive as timed for election-eve impact.

"Whatever their motives, if this administration can bring off a settlement of this war, they'll have my full support and cooperation in any effort that can lead to peace," he said.

Word from the White House Thursday that "peace is at hand" produced no basic change in the campaign stance McGovern adopted earlier in the week amid initial reports of a possible settlement.

He said then, and he says now, that he is for it, that it should have come years ago, and that the political effect is not important.

"I don't think we ought to be trying to count votes when bodies are involved . . .

"There is no evidence that I have yet been able to see that convinces me there is any new circumstance leading to peace now that was not there for the asking four years ago," he told a campaign rally in Sacramento Thursday night. "We can only mourn four more years of war . . ."

McGovern said any intransigence on the part of Nguyen Van Thieu, the South Vietnamese president, should be brushed aside.

Child Power

Leave it to federal investigators to get around to testing how strong children are. They have done it, with some surprising results. For one, the machines they designed to test youthful strength had to be rebuilt. They weren't strong enough.

The tests were all part of efforts in industry and government to make toys and other objects safe for children to handle. The National Bureau of Standards has been conducting tests to see how strong — and destructive — children are between two and six years of age.

An engineer with the bureau who designed the test machines reports six-year-olds "can pull in excess of 70 pounds and can twist in excess of 35 to 40 pounds per inch." Even two-year-olds can twist in excess of 10 pounds.

That adds up to a lot of child-power, especially when the purpose is to remove a potentially sharp or dangerous object.

Watergate

By JEFFREY HART

Commentary on the Watergate affair has now reached the boiling point, no doubt heated by the bunsen burner of the approaching election. To Tom Wicker of the New York Times, for example, the Watergate affair simply disqualifies Richard Nixon from associating himself with any of the traditional moral values. At the same time, all such journalists are busy deploring the "apathy" with which the public has greeted the Watergate disclosures, as well as the various other alleged scandals — the ITT affair, the grain deal, and so on.

for example, argue that our moral sensibilities have been so deadened by the Vietnamese War that no scandal, no matter how black, any longer excites us. Apropos of which, two points: a) How did Anthony Lewis, who is in a permanent state of excitement, manage to escape the common fate — a time capsule? and b) If we have a heavy snowfall this year, Lewis will doubtless explain it by citing the evils of the Vietnamese War.

But it does remain a fact, nevertheless, that none of the charges, not even the evident connection of the Watergate operators with the Republican campaign apparatus, seems to be hurting the Republicans very much. And for this, in my judgment, there are a number of reasons.

Dear Editor,

Attention should be focused on the alternatives regarding Issue 2 (Repeal of the Income Tax) if true understanding of the issue is to follow.

Any proposal to cut any tax sounds good at first but the more you understand the issue the less desirable it appears.

First — It repeats the new graduated taxes on corporations and individuals. These taxes are now supplying nearly one fourth of the state's income. The result would be devastating if eliminated and no other funds provided to replace the loss.

Second — It could increase property taxes by 10 per cent by eliminating funds for the rollback, which is now provided due to the income tax.

Third — It could take away the homestead exemption which now averages $105 for qualified retired householders.

Fourth — It could weaken vital services like aid to the aged, aid to handicapped children, etc. by drastically curtailing funds.

Fifth — It could reduce state school support drastically and in many parts of the state cause school closings.

Sixth — It obviously would either require new taxes at the state level of either flat rate income tax, which would be an injustice to the average wage earner, or would require an increased sales tax to make up for part of the lost revenue. If funds do not become available at the state level, the only local tax available is the property tax.

Finally — Chaos would surely be evident during the time the repeal takes effect until new taxes can be enacted.

Consider all the facts when casting your ballot. It appears that a "No" vote on Issue 2 is in the best interest of Ohio.

It is generally accepted that there is a distinct relationship between low cholesterol, reduced arteriosclerosis, and benefits to the circulatory system.

A scientist recently found that diets high in fiber tend to reduce the amount of cholesterol in the blood.

Dr. Hugh Trowell, of Hampshire, England, has been studying a group of volunteers in India who ate large quantities of chick peas, with its high-fiber content.

He found there was a drop of almost 50 per cent in the cholesterol level of the blood in the patients he studied. Along with this he noted a distinct reduction in coronary heart disease.

With further studies, Dr. Trowell's concepts may be of great value in the constant search for ways of reducing heart attacks.

Engineers have always played a remarkable role in the actual practice of medicine and surgery.

The creation of heart-lung machines and kidney machines is of infinite value during complex surgical procedures.

Engineering ingenuity is responsible for thousands of devices to help the handicapped resume active and take their normal place in society.

Now a new electronic device has been designed for patients who are recovering from fractures of the legs, from injuries to the hips and pelvis.

It is important that these people know what their limitations are, and how much weight can be borne by the legs during the recovery period.

This device, which fits into a special sandal or shoe, issues a high-pitched noise if too much weight is put on the injured area.

This warns the patient, and stress can then be removed from the leg.

The device is now being developed to show, too, when not sufficient weight is being applied for maximum recovery.

Don Endicott, a student of mechanical engineering at the University of California at Santa Barbara, has designed this extraordinary instrument.

A new drug being used with great interest in the problem of narcotics addiction is being studied for its value in alcoholism.

Dr. Jack Mendelson, of Harvard Medical School, has been using propranolol in an effort to help those who have difficulty in giving up excessive drinking.

Fascinating studies already show that the drug can prevent some of the behavior patterns, the mood changes and the lack of coordination associated with excess intake of alcohol. It is hoped that this and allied drugs along with psychotherapy may be of great value in the control of the massive social disease, chronic alcoholism, that often is masked by the euphemistic term of "social drinking."

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — The best amateur actor in the history of the New York City Police Department is doing well as a professional television and movie performer.

"I had to go into the movies to get promoted," said former detective Eddie Egan, who plays a police lieutenant in Paramount's new crime thriller, "Badge 373."

Eddie, whose real-life exploits were the basis for the award-winning film, "The French Connection," is the legendary detective who made 8,741 arrests during a 19-year career as a crime-solver.

This amazing total is a record for the Police Department here.

Eddie, a maverick detective sometimes in trouble with his superiors because of his unorthodox methods, retired last year because he was "tired of paper work" and because he had always yearned for an acting career.

He feels he has smoothed out his quarrels with the Police Department. He has his badge, and is still permitted to wear strapped to his right ankle the gun he wore while in service. And, beginning in 1975, he will start receiving annual retirement pay of $11,000, which is 42 per cent of his final salary as a detective.

Defending the brusque tactics he employed while on duty — he wasn't noted for following departmental rules to the letter

Egan remarked: "An old cop once told me, 'The only trouble you can get into on this job is by doing the job.' I found out myself that when you're arresting 8 to 10 people a day, you become maybe too experienced. You cut the corners too close sometimes to please everybody."

Anyway, Eddie feels his future is pretty bright. He has a contract with Paramount tying him to the production of 13 films for which he has submitted plot outlines. Also in prospect is a television series, tentatively entitled "My Partner and I."

"Hopefully, I'll play myself," said Egan, "but that's being negotiated."

There are sound reasons for Eddie's optimism. He has already played six professional roles, and behind him lie innumerable real life roles while he was a detective, in some of which his own safety was at stake.

Egan, now 42, stands 6 feet 1, weighs 225 pounds, has wavy brown hair and intense blue eyes, and looks like a retired pro football fullback. He said there was considerable difference between acting for the Police Department and for Hollywood.

"The pay is nicer now, but acting is literally a matter of survival when I was a detective. In some places, if they knew you were a cop, you'd end up with too many holes in your head."

Thieu, Man In The Middle, Proves Mysterious Figure

By RICHARD BLYSTONE

Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — The personality of President Nguyen Van Thieu, the man in the middle of the peace negotiations between Washington and Hanoi, is as much a mystery as his future. He has built his career on caution, not charisma.

Opponents call him ruthless; supporters selfless. The intimate facts are known to very few.

The president's pastimes are said to be fishing and watching war movies and wrestling matches on the American Forces television network.

In recent years he has isolated himself more and more within a close circle of advisers — some of them relatives — who disclose nothing of his state of mind. He has met on occasion with a Western reporter when it served his purpose but has held no formal news conference in more than two years.

Thieu's informal two-hour speech to his people Tuesday, crackling with slang denunciations of the Communists, recalled the president of earlier days who carried a small camera and delighted in snapping pictures of photographers snapping him.

Some veteran observers maintain that Thieu is capable of personal magnetism and that he should exercise it more often in the interests of tying together this nation of fragmented sects and factions. But he has shown no tendency toward that.

On two points, no one accuses Thieu of sacrificing principle to expediency: nationalism and anti-Communism.

At 23, Thieu spurned a job in the French merchant marine when he learned he would be paid less than French officers in the same position.

He joined the Anti-French Viet Minh as a young man but quit because the Communists dominated it. Since then his stand has been adamantly anti-Communist.

Child Power

Leave it to federal investigators to get around to testing how strong children are. They have done it, with some surprising results. For one, the machines they designed to test youthful strength had to be rebuilt. They weren't strong enough.

The tests were all part of efforts in industry and government to make toys and other objects safe for children to handle. The National Bureau of Standards has been conducting tests to see how strong — and destructive — children are between two and six years of age.

An engineer with the bureau who designed the test machines reports six-year-olds "can pull in excess of 70 pounds and can twist in excess of 35 to 40 pounds per inch." Even two-year-olds can twist in excess of 10 pounds.

That adds up to a lot of child-power, especially when the purpose is to remove a potentially sharp or dangerous object.

Watergate

By JEFFREY HART

Commentary on the Watergate affair has now reached the boiling point, no doubt heated by the bunsen burner of the approaching election. To Tom Wicker of the New York Times, for example, the Watergate affair simply disqualifies Richard Nixon from associating himself with any of the traditional moral values. At the same time, all such journalists are busy deploring the "apathy" with which the public has greeted the Watergate disclosures, as well as the various other alleged scandals — the ITT affair, the grain deal, and so on.

for example, argue that our moral sensibilities have been so deadened by the Vietnamese War that no scandal, no matter how black, any longer excites us. Apropos of which, two points: a) How did Anthony Lewis, who is in a permanent state of excitement, manage to escape the common fate — a time capsule? and b) If we have a heavy snowfall this year, Lewis will doubtless explain it by citing the evils of the Vietnamese War.

But it does remain a fact, nevertheless, that none of the charges, not even the evident connection of the Watergate operators with the Republican campaign apparatus, seems to be hurting the Republicans very much. And for this, in my judgment, there are a number of reasons.

First of all, the public is bound to be skeptical when a great many allegations begin to be made by Democrats and their supporters during a Presidential election year, especially when not much in the way of proof is forthcoming. Both the wheat deal and the ITT affair are many-faceted, and though improprieties have been charged, none has been demonstrated; and, furthermore, in its principal aspect the grain deal is perceived as a plus.

Second, though it certainly does not change any of the ethical questions, the very onesidedness of the Presidential race tends to damp down interest in the charges. If a football team is leading 60-0, the allegation that it was offside on some plays tends to lose audience interest.

And finally, the Watergate affair itself, and the other allegations vaguely surrounding it concerning political espionage and subversion, are very much a mixed bag. The separate items have to be sorted out and distinguished.

Breaking into the Democratic headquarters in the Watergate is obviously, a punishable crime. Those caught or found to have been involved will presumably have to answer the charges in court.

Phone tapping, too, is unsavory; but here, I think, the public perception is a little different than in the case of breaking and entering. The practice is known to be widespread, especially among competing industries and businesses, which are extremely anxious to know what their rivals are up to. I myself know that at the Miami Beach Convention in 1968 the rival Republican candidates made every effort, electronic and otherwise, to penetrate each other's camps. And if you believe that Robert Kennedy, as JFK's campaign chief in 1960, never employed various electronic eavesdropping techniques, well, all I can say is that you have not yet eaten of the apple politically.

But when we turn to matters of lesser weight than either breaking and entering or phone tapping, I think we are then in the realm of the prank and the caper. It has been charged in solemn tones that Republican operatives posed as liberals and infiltrated McGovern headquarters. Is it possible to be horrified at that?

It has been charged, and denied, that the Republicans sent a phony letter to the Leader in which it appeared that Ed Muskie had uttered the dread word "Canuck." The thought, apparently, drove Muskie to tears and toward the political exit. But though dummyming up a letter isn't the nicest thing in the world to do, the interesting thing is what it showed us about Muskie's short fuse during the New Hampshire primary. And as for the charge that Republican operative phoned George Meany and said he was Gary Hart, (one of McGovern's chief lieutenants), this sort of thing reminds me more of the famous Jumping Frog of Calaveras County or the Headless Horseman than of an incipient 1984.

Brown Denies Longer Voting Hours Necessary

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Secretary of State Ted Brown said Thursday Ohio's election boards "are in an excellent state of preparedness" for the Nov. 7 election and there is no need to extend the voting hours.

Brown was responding to reports that supporters of Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern would file a federal court suit seeking to have polls remain open three hours later than the scheduled 6:30 p.m. closing time.

"I am convinced that the court will not extend the polling place hours unless there is cause, and indeed, there is no cause," Brown said in a letter to the county boards.

Today is Saturday, Oct. 28, the 302nd day of 1972. There are 64 days left in the year.

Today's highlight is history: On this date in 1919, Congress overrode a veto by President Woodrow Wilson and enacted Prohibition.

On this date: In 1492, Christopher Columbus discovered Cuba.

In 1866, the Statue of Liberty was dedicated on Bedloe's Island in New York Harbor.

Occult Is Topic At Monday Club

"Angels, Demons, Familiar Elements and Spirits" was the title of the paper presented by Mrs. Ray Davis at the Monday Club meeting held recently in the meeting of the Pickaway County Historical Society Museum.

Mrs. Davis discussed witches and ghosts, the occult and precognition. Mrs. Davis reported that since the repeal of the ancient witchcraft act in 1951, covens have increased in number and witches now practice openly. They publish a quarterly magazine, the Pentagram, largely concerned with discussions of ritual.

Public interest in the occult and in extra sensory perception is at a very high level, especially among young people. Mrs. Davis presented humorous and interesting illustrations taken from a magazine and newspaper articles and books including Hanz Holzer book "The Truth About Witchcraft" and Dennis Borden's book "Mysterious Worlds." The title of Mrs. Davis presentation comes from the subtitle of a new book by Emily Hahn.

Occult Is Topic At Monday Club

"Angels, Demons, Familiar Elements and Spirits" was the title of the paper presented by Mrs. Ray Davis at the Monday Club meeting held recently in the meeting of the Pickaway County Historical Society Museum.

Mrs. Davis discussed witches and ghosts, the occult and precognition. Mrs. Davis reported that since the repeal of the ancient witchcraft act in 1951, covens have increased in number and witches now practice openly. They publish a quarterly magazine, the Pentagram, largely concerned with discussions of ritual.

Public interest in the occult and in extra sensory perception is at a very high level, especially among young people. Mrs. Davis presented humorous and interesting illustrations taken from a magazine and newspaper articles and books including Hanz Holzer book "The Truth About Witchcraft" and Dennis Borden's book "Mysterious Worlds." The title of Mrs. Davis presentation comes from the subtitle of a new book by Emily Hahn.

Mrs. William Curtis, president of Monday club was in charge of the business session. The annual sale of goods made by the blind was held at the meeting.

Mrs. Richard Foreman Attends National Council

Mrs. Richard Foreman, Route 1, Ashville, was a delegate to the 39th Convention of the Girl Scouts National Council held in Dallas, Texas. She was one of 25 representing the Seal of Ohio Girl Scout Council, Inc.

MRS. RICHARD FOREMAN

More than 8,000 adults and Senior Girl Scouts met to consider national business matters, share ideas and experiences, broaden insights, and have fun with old and new friends.

During the four days of sessions, Mrs. Foreman had the opportunity to vote for members of the National Board and Nominating Committee; to discuss the Girl Scout program; to consider Girl Scout as a voluntary movement; to hear a report from the National Board of Directors. Of special significance was a proposal brought by the National Board at the directions of the National Council to update the wording of the Promise and Law.

Surrounding the daily sessions were a variety of optional events offering new ideas and challenges to all attending.

The National Council Convention provided a vision today for tomorrow's world.

Mrs. Foreman is active in the Tri-Plains Service Unit as Service Unit Director and Leader of Cadette Troop 100, Ashville.

Beef Prices Show Decline Due To Dip For Middleman

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumers paid less for beef last month because of a slide in cattle prices and the first dip in middleman markups since last June, the Agriculture Department said Friday.

The September retail price of beef, a key indicator in the cost of living, was slightly less than $1.13 per pound on an all-cut basis, including hamburger as well as steak.

That was almost three cents less than in August and 4.4 cents cheaper than the record high in July. In August, however, the price spread—the markup—from cattle to consumers was a record 44.8 cents per pound.

Last month, according to a "market basket" report on U.S. farm-produced food, the middleman share for beef was 43.3 cents per pound, a decline of 3.3 per cent in a month.

Statistically, however, the middleman beef margin was 20.3 per cent more than last June and 14.9 per cent more than a year ago.

All grocery store foods averaged 0.1 per cent less in September but 5.6 per cent more than a year earlier.

Last week the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported take-home food in September rose 0.1 per cent from August. But USDA officials said their report covered only food produced on American farms and did not include imported items and seafood products.

The BLS report also covers meat prices only for the first week in a month, while the USDA surveys beef and pork for the entire month.

Broken down further, the USDA report showed that of the average retail beef price of just under $1.13 per pound, the "farm value" was 69.6 cents in September, down from 71.9 in August and the summer peak of 77.5 last June and July when cattle prices were higher.

Farm value is not the price producers get for cattle, but it is their share of what consumers pay at retail stores. It requires nearly 2.3 pounds of live steer, for example, to make one pound of supermarket beef.

A total market basket of food items, theoretically enough to feed a typical family for a year, cost an annual rate of $1,320 in September down $2 from the record highs reported for July and August.

Of the total, the farm share was $339 in September, up from $530 in August. The middleman share for transportation, processing and merchandising was $781 in September, down $11 from $792 reported the month earlier.

Noting the increase in the market basket's farm value, officials said the rise was due mainly to "substantially higher prices for frying chickens and wheat."

U.S. Weather Both Snowy And Balmy

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation's weather today ranged from freezing cold in the mountainous West to balmy temperatures in the 90s in the South and Southwest.

Sporadic showers and thunderstorms accompanied mild temperatures in the Midwest while crisp, autumn temperatures were the rule for the Northern Plains.

Portions of the Southeast, however, were recovering from a wave of tornadoes that twisted through parts of Alabama, Florida and Georgia Friday resulting in the injury of two persons and some property damage.

A flood watch was canceled late Friday for a portion of northern Georgia and about half an inch of rain fell at Greensboro and Ashville, N.C., and portions of West Virginia.

Heavy snow warnings were in effect for mountain areas of Washington, northwestern Oregon, western and northern Idaho and western Montana where up to a foot of snow was forecast.

Heavy-snow warnings were in effect for the mountains of Colorado, and heavy snow also was expected to reach mountain areas of Nevada and Utah.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 21 at Havre-Mont., to 82 at Key West Naval Air Station, Fla.

Ohio Solons Delighted War Nearly Finished

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ohio congressmen, most of them Republicans, expressed delight over reports Thursday that peace was near in Vietnam.

Reactions from others in Ohio, including a couple of national figures, ranged from praise for the President's efforts to complaints that the war should have ended long ago.

Here is what congressmen who could be contacted had to say about the peace reports:

Clarence Brown, Republican—"The settlement justifies the President's policies of Vietnamization, American withdrawal and negotiation. It also justifies the support of the majority of Americans for the President's plan to end the war."

James V. Stanton, Democrat—"I'm delighted. It's the most useless war in the history of our country and if it's finally over it will be a saving grace for America."

William Minshall, Republican—"The entire credit is due to the courage of a great President, who said months ago that he would bring peace to the world in our generation."

Chalmers Wylie, Republican—"An agreement which would include an exchange of prisoners of war and a ceasefire is what I've been hoping for. I am pleased we did not fall into situation of withdrawal without negotiating a ceasefire and release for the prisoners of war."

Charles W. Whalen, Republican—"I am delighted to hear the news. I hope the agreement will be signed as quickly as possible so that implementation can begin."

Clarence E. Miller, Republican—"I'm willing to accept peace whenever we can have it. I only hope peace can be reached. This is vital to all of us. The war has gone on entirely too long."

Samuel Devine, Republican—"This appears to be a major breakthrough. From what I gather talking to some of my sources in the White House, this amounts to absolute peace—not just an armistice."

White House Communications Director Herb Klein said in Toledo Thursday North Vietnam decided it was time to negotiate an end to the war because its position had weakened and that of the United States had become stronger.

In addition, he said, it became clear to the North Vietnamese that Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern "is going to lose the American election and, therefore, they have no hope for unilateral United States action."

Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, said in Cleveland the "moral tragedy" following an end to the war would be Americans allowing "the leadership today" to persuade them the nation "did the right thing, everything's all right, we tried, and we're still a great nation."

He said America has been

"held hostage by one, two-bit Vietnamese general that we've made president of his country."

"This nation never was bent on negotiation," Gravel said, "we were bent on Vietnamization. We now are seriously negotiating for the first time."

Senate Minority Leader Hugh Scott, R-Pa., said in Cincinnati McGovern's charge that the war could have been ended sooner was hypocritical.

"No sane man believes that Hanoi would have accepted a unilateral ceasefire previously," he said. "No peace was possible until Hanoi was willing to talk about ceasefire."

"There conditions did not exist four years ago," Scott said. "Nor two years ago or two months ago. It is the utmost hypocrisy of George McGovern to say so, and he knows it."

Robert Gage, student body president at Kent State University, where four students were shot to death by National Guardsmen during an antiwar demonstration in 1970, said the settlement terms "could have been accepted thousands of lives ago."

"There is absolutely no forgiveness for the unjust and tragic prolonging of the Vietnam war... to the eve of a presidential election," Gage said.

Duncan Williams, coordinator of the Cleveland Area Peace Action Coalition, which planned an antiwar demonstration in Cleveland today, said he would have to see peace come about before he believes the reports.

"We will believe that the war in Vietnam is over when we see all the troops, war implements and warplanes are brought back," he said. "Until that does happen, we will continue our protests, continue seeking total withdrawal of all U.S. forces."

Cincinnati Mayor Thomas Luken, a Democrat and

McGovern supporter, said "If Mr. Kissinger says that the national election has nothing to do with it, I'm perfectly happy to take his word as long as he brings peace."

Deborah Walker, 20, a Cincinnati rock singer, said the settlement "is 10 years too late, and you can't thank Nixon for it."

William P. Sheehan, executive secretary of the Cincinnati area AFL-CIO, wondered if "North Vietnam might not have imposed some conditions on the U.S. that will cost the American people dearly... some kind of Marshall Plan to rebuild war-torn areas."

Klein Rips McGovern For 'Lies'

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Director Herb Klein said Thursday this has been the dirtiest presidential campaign of all time and Sen. George McGovern made it that way.

"It is time for the senator to start talking issues and stop the lies and innuendo. . .," Klein said during a news conference here, one day after an appearance by the Democratic presidential candidate.

Klein said McGovern's "campaign of lies" was the "most shocking part" of the campaign. He also attacked the senator's domestic platform.

Klein said McGovern "has yet to propose a domestic plan that does not gouge the heart out of the hard-working taxpayer, weaken our national security and force the economy into an enormous deficit."

Later in Toledo, Klein said McGovern's new spending proposals would cost the average family in Ohio an additional $2,001 a year in taxes.

He said Ohio, as a farm state, would be especially hard hit by McGovern's tax reform proposals on inheritance, accessions and capital gains.

"A farmer or rancher would find it almost prohibitive to pass his property on to his son," Klein said. "Such taxes would easily devour at least half of the value of the estate."

Klein said he didn't think the new developments on the Vietnam peace front "will have any major effect on the election."

Ohio Solons Delighted War Nearly Finished

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ohio congressmen, most of them Republicans, expressed delight over reports Thursday that peace was near in Vietnam.

Reactions from others in Ohio, including a couple of national figures, ranged from praise for the President's efforts to complaints that the war should have ended long ago.

Here is what congressmen who could be contacted had to say about the peace reports:

Clarence Brown, Republican—"The settlement justifies the President's policies of Vietnamization, American withdrawal and negotiation. It also justifies the support of the majority of Americans for the President's plan to end the war."

James V. Stanton, Democrat—"I'm delighted. It's the most useless war in the history of our country and if it's finally over it will be a saving grace for America."

William Minshall, Republican—"The entire credit is due to the courage of a great President, who said months ago that he would bring peace to the world in our generation."

Chalmers Wylie, Republican—"An agreement which would include an exchange of prisoners of war and a ceasefire is what I've been hoping for. I am pleased we did not fall into situation of withdrawal without negotiating a ceasefire and release for the prisoners of war."

Charles W. Whalen, Republican—"I am delighted to hear the news. I hope the agreement will be signed as quickly as possible so that implementation can begin."

Clarence E. Miller, Republican—"I'm willing to accept peace whenever we can have it. I only hope peace can be reached. This is vital to all of us. The war has gone on entirely too long."

Samuel Devine, Republican—"This appears to be a major breakthrough. From what I gather talking to some of my sources in the White House, this amounts to absolute peace—not just an armistice."

White House Communications Director Herb Klein said in Toledo Thursday North Vietnam decided it was time to negotiate an end to the war because its position had weakened and that of the United States had become stronger.

In addition, he said, it became clear to the North Vietnamese that Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern "is going to lose the American election and, therefore, they have no hope for unilateral United States action."

Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, said in Cleveland the "moral tragedy" following an end to the war would be Americans allowing "the leadership today" to persuade them the nation "did the right thing, everything's all right, we tried, and we're still a great nation."

He said America has been

"held hostage by one, two-bit Vietnamese general that we've made president of his country."

"This nation never was bent on negotiation," Gravel said, "we were bent on Vietnamization. We now are seriously negotiating for the first time."

Senate Minority Leader Hugh Scott, R-Pa., said in Cincinnati McGovern's charge that the war could have been ended sooner was hypocritical.

"No sane man believes that Hanoi would have accepted a unilateral ceasefire previously," he said. "No peace was possible until Hanoi was willing to talk about ceasefire."

"There conditions did not exist four years ago," Scott said. "Nor two years ago or two months ago. It is the utmost hypocrisy of George McGovern to say so, and he knows it."

Robert Gage, student body president at Kent State University, where four students were shot to death by National Guardsmen during an antiwar demonstration in 1970, said the settlement terms "could have been accepted thousands of lives ago."

"There is absolutely no forgiveness for the unjust and tragic prolonging of the Vietnam war... to the eve of a presidential election," Gage said.

Duncan Williams, coordinator of the Cleveland Area Peace Action Coalition, which planned an antiwar demonstration in Cleveland today, said he would have to see peace come about before he believes the reports.

"We will believe that the war in Vietnam is over when we see all the troops, war imlements and warplanes are brought back," he said. "Until that does happen, we will continue our protests, continue seeking total withdrawal of all U.S. forces."

Cincinnati Mayor Thomas Luken, a Democrat and

McGovern supporter, said "If Mr. Kissinger says that the national election has nothing to do with it, I'm perfectly happy to take his word as long as he brings peace."

Deborah Walker, 20, a Cincinnati rock singer, said the settlement "is 10 years too late, and you can't thank Nixon for it."

William P. Sheehan, executive secretary of the Cincinnati area AFL-CIO, wondered if "North Vietnam might not have imposed some conditions on the U.S. that will cost the American people dearly... some kind of Marshall Plan to rebuild war-torn areas."

NEW YORK (AP) — More representative government of the Roman Catholic Church in this country, including participation of laity and clergy in choosing bishops, is recommended by a U.S. bishops' study committee.

Since local people are "co-responsible for the local church, they must be involved in an authentic way in the choice of the one who will lead them," the committee says. "This cannot be left to chance."

In early church history, the people elected their bishops. At present, provincial groups of bishops recommend nominees to the Pope, who makes the final choice. Bishops may consult lay leaders and priests about nominees, but are not required to do so.

The wide-ranging report, dealing with some of the sharpest tensions now affecting relationships between bishops and priests, presented some central questions for next month's meeting of the nation's bishops.

It also came amid keen protests by leading spokesmen for priests at new Vatican restrictions, and on the heels of a lay-clergy appeal for setting up a national pastoral council as a voice for laity and priests in the U.S. church.

The study committee, headed by Archbishop Philip M. Hannan of New Orleans, says the church is at a point where it must find ways "to involve the faithful more effectively in the process of selecting their leaders."

"If all the people of God share in the responsibility for the continuation of the mission of Christ," the report says, "so, to, should they participate to some degree in the determination of the one who will have the most to say about how that mission will be accomplished."

The committee says procedures should be set up requiring full, open meetings of clergy and laity for discussing and proposing nominees. This, the committee says, should give the process "a greater degree of acceptability than it presently enjoys."

Other recommendations include:

—That formally recognized relationships be set up between the National Conference of Catholic Bishops and representative organizations of priests.

—That representative priests should have a voice in national, regional and provincial meetings of bishops.

—That standards be established guaranteeing "due process" in every diocese, including procedures for conciliation, arbitration and impartial judicial hearings for those claiming individual rights have been violated in the church.

That an interdisciplinary committee be sent up to consider fixing limited terms of office for bishops.

—That more Spanish-speaking and black persons be included in the American hierarchy.

The report came shortly after a U.S. Bishops' Advisory Council, made up of 50 priests, bishops and lay persons, urged creation of a national pastoral council giving clergy and laity a representative voice in the church.

Reagan Uses Parody To Refute Report

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan turned to parody to deny a report that he will run for the U.S. Senate when his second four term expires in 1974.

"Sen. Cranston shot an arrow into the air and like everything else he tries to do, it fell to earth and he knows not where," Reagan said at a news conference Wednesday.

His statement came in reply to a question about a remark made by Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., who said Tuesday he was convinced the governor would challenge him for the Senate.

4-H On The Go

By FRED SANDROCK

County Extension Agent, 4-H Confirmation has just been received indicating the Ohio Roadside Council will again sponsor the "Keep Ohio Beautiful" program in 1973, according to John D. Ruoff, Wapakoneta Area Extension 4-H Agent.

The "Keep Ohio Beautiful" program is a 4-H Club community service activity jointly sponsored by the Ohio Roadside Council and the Ohio Cooperative Extension Service. It is a people program designed to promote and maintain the natural and man-made beauty of Ohio.

Ohio is a beautiful and bountiful state. It will remain this way only as long as there are people who care and take time to promote and maintain its resources. 4-H members and clubs have a real opportunity to demonstrate their concern through community service activities and the "Keep Ohio Beautiful" program.

Community service activities help every 4-H member to grow through the four H's — Head, Heart, Hands, and Health. Members involve their head in expressing concern for others by improving their surroundings; their hands in physical clean-up, plantings, and restoration; and their health in eliminating hazards and reducing disease potential.

In addition to the four-fold development of the members, the community service activities provide additional benefit to the community. Members gain contact and exposure to people they might not otherwise come in contact with, such as township trustees, county commissioners and engineers, news media people, health commissioners, and community leaders.

Community service activities help to close the "generation gap" if indeed a "generation gap" exists. Many adults work hand in hand with youth in completing the planned activities. Sometimes adults are very skeptical of 4-H members who plan the community beautification or service project but often gain much respect and satisfaction of youth when they see what can be accomplished by 4-H members and clubs.

Another benefit of the "Keep Ohio Beautiful" program is that much teaching and training take place as the project is planned, completed, and evaluated. Members as well as the general public benefit from the learning experiences resulting from the completion of a community service project.

Four-H clubs show interest in and demonstrate by example what can be done to improve their communities, counties and state.

The Ohio Roadside Council provides awards to outstanding club activities in the "Keep Ohio Beautiful" program. Cash awards of twenty and ten dollars are presented to the two best programs in each Extension Area and certificates to all 4-H clubs participating in the program.

The following activities were just a few of the "Keep Ohio Beautiful" program completed throughout Ohio in 1972: Painting the inside and outside of a local Grange Hall that was used as a 4-H meeting room; restoration of a section of the Miami-Erie Canal; building and landscaping a flag pole for the county fairgrounds; cleaning up and maintaining an overgrown abandoned cemetery; cleaning up county roadsides; painting fire hydrants and county road signs; cleaning up maintaining, and promoting historical land-

Plow Loses To New Methods Of Soil Tillage

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Just over two centuries ago, a Frenchman, working in his shop, molded the plow that ever since has furrowed the face of farming. Pulled first by horses and oxen, then by tractors, the moldboard plow has overturned the soil in millions of fields—often leaving it exposed to the hazards of wind and water erosion.

Today, a new era in man's methods of tilling the soil is beginning, says Samuel W. Bone, Extension agronomist at The Ohio State University. New equipment for planting crops—called no-tillage planting—is reducing the need for plowing the soil, while still encouraging high crop yields.

The new equipment offers farmers greater flexibility in soil management. For example, some planters will plant in soil that has not been plowed or tilled as well as the soil that has been tilled—all with little or no adjustment.

Search for better tillage methods became a national concern in the 1930's when soil exposed by the plow was recognized as a major hazard to the nation's food and fiber supply and to health. At that time the U.S. Soil Conservation Service was established. During the 1970's, there is still a concern about sediment loss related to agricultural production.

RESEARCH in agricultural production technology has resulted in advancements that may replace the plow as a primary tillage tool, Bone claims. These advancements include chemicals to control vegetation without tillage as well as equipment to plant in soil that has not been plowed. The goal is to find new ways to produce crops, obtain increasing yields and still decrease soil loss and sediment production.

Since new methods are available, Bone suggests that farmers evaluate tillage practices this fall for the 1973 production year. Many soils, he explains, should not be tilled during the fall and winter. If they are plowed in the fall, the residue that could improve crop yields and decrease sediment loss will be plowed under, leaving bare soil exposed.

Soils on which corn was grown in 1972, and which are not wet, should not be plowed this fall, the specialist says. Generally, these are soils light in color, medium in soil texture and have adequate air and water movement in the soil for good crop growth. These may also include soils on which the drainage has been installed to marks; and painting and lettering rural mailboxes.

It is never too early to start planning for 1973. Contact your County Extension Office for details and ideas and secure a leaflet explaining the "Keep Ohio Beautiful" program. Do your part to help "Keep Ohio Beautiful."

improve air and water relationships.

If adequate residue can be maintained on the surface of these soils during winter, it will permit using tillage practices, next year, that will control sediment loss during the growing season. It will also help improve yields by improved water management.

Those soils in Ohio that have slow internal drainage and are dark in surface color will require some tillage prior to planting in 1973. This doesn't mean the tillage should be done before January, Bone explains. Yield response for corn has been about the same for both winter and early spring plowing for these soils in western and southwestern Ohio.

In northwestern Ohio, the slow rate of soil drying in the spring may require that most of the tillage be done during the winter on soils that have a dark surface color and fine texture. However, plowing is not required in all situations, Bone adds. Any tillage operation that leaves the soil surface rough may help to decrease sediment losses on those soils.

Where tillage can be done early enough in the fall, a seeding of small grain to provide surface cover may be desirable. The grain crop can be killed chemically in the spring, and planting can be done with little or no tillage prior.

EFFECTIVELY using water for crop production while decreasing sediment generation on agricultural land requires much flexibility in equipment and management. Tillage should be

Knitted fabrics are the darling of the textile industry and indications are that they will be for many years to come. Knits are so popular, virtually every men's, women's and children's wear store or department carries a wide variety of knitted goods.

What makes knitted goods so desirable? Many good qualities are inherent in them regardless of varying fiber composition. They are wrinkle resistant, requiring little or no ironing, able to stretch for wearing comfort and return to original shape without bagging and usually machine washable and dryable for real economy of care.

Knits are made from fibers which are interlocked in a series of connecting loops. Basically, there are two types: warp knits and weft knits.

Warp knits are made from hundreds of parallel yarns on one set of needles, each one of which forms loops along the length of the fabric. Unless specially treated, they stretch mainly in width. Forms of warp knits include tricot, used for lingerie, and raschel, used in ribbed and raised surface fabrics for shirt, slacks, jacket and dresses.

Weft knits can be double, single or flat, and are made from one continuous strand of yard forming horizontal rows of interlocked loops. Double knits are made using two sets of needles, resulting in two layers planned to give high yield response to better water management and more effective control of sediment loss on the entire field, the specialist says. Sometimes this may mean different tillage operations on parts of the field already planted.

Bone believes that as farmers become aware of the advantages of more no-tillage planting, they will give the plow less priority in their soil management programs.

of fabric which cannot be separated. They stretch in both length and width and are found in suits, slacks, jackets and dresses. Single knits are a single layer of fabric, lighter in weight than double knits, and often used in T-shirts and golf shirts. Underwear and sport shirts are often made of flat knits which can be shaped during the knitting process by increasing the number and size of the loops.

Knitted goods can be made from a variety of fibers including polyester, cotton, acetate, wool, nylon, triacetate and many blends. Generally, washable knits made of man-made fiber (this portion should be at least 50 per cent of the blend) hold their original size better than knits made of cotton or rayon.

Care instructions differ with fiber content as well as trims, linings, and interfacing, therefore, it is imperative to check labels and hangtags. The following suggestions are offered when laundering knits—sort items by color, amount of soil and weight of fabric. Appliance manufacturers recommend that zippers be closed and hooks and eyes fastened to prevent snagging. Turning knits wrong side out will also help. Selection of cycle, wash temperature and time will depend on the construction of the garment, the amount of soil and colorfastness.

Here are some special tips for laundering man-made knits: Use a warm water wash cycle to keep knits wrinkle free. Garments should be removed from the dryer when they are still slightly damp. Overdrying may cause shrinkage and also a build up of static electricity especially in the man-made fibers. It is always a good idea for the home sewer to pre-shrink polyester knits by washing and drying as they will be treated after construction.

New Soil Test Procedure Focuses On Type Of Crop

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Filling out information for soil testing will soon be simpler, and the results and recommendations form will be more interesting. The changes are part of a new program of the Ohio State University Soil Testing Laboratory, reports John Trierweiler, lab supervisor and Extension agronomist.

Starting January 1, the laboratory will use separate soil test information sheets for each major use: agronomic crops, horticultural and turf crops and lawns and gardens. At present, one form is used for all three crop types. The new sheets will permit asking only questions pertinent to the type of crop being grown on the soil to be tested, Trierweiler explains.

The new lawn or garden soil test information sheet is a brand new item, the agronomist claims. Designed expressly for home lawns or gardens, the sheet will be included in a special mailing packet that will be available at garden stores as well as in county Cooperative Extension Service offices. The mailing includes a plastic bag for the soil and a self-addressed envelope for the information sheet. There is a $2 charge for the testing and making says this new packet will greatly simplify the procedure for submitting this type of sample.

For the agronomic program, the primary change is that the farmer will be given a chance to select the type of fertilizer recommendations he desires. One such recommendation is annual application plus soil buildup, if needed, and the other type is annual recommendation alone. The farmer then selects the recommendation that best fits his program.

THE sheet for horticultural crops has numerous changes, Trierweiler continues. Additional information, specifically for horticultural crops will help fertility specialists make more accurate recommendations. The more comprehensive form reflects a more intense understanding of factors affecting plant nutrition needed for growing horticultural crops today.

Computer printout forms for all three crop types will have updated result sections and space for detailed recommendations. The agronomic recommendations printout will give the farmer exactly the answers he requests in a simple and useable manner. Home lawn or garden printouts will also include simple recommendations, and for lawns there will be a table listing the suggested amounts of different fertilizers the homeowner may apply. Some of the horticultural recommendations will also be computerized, and more space will be available for specialists use as they make specific recommendations.

Trierweiler sees the new program as a simple, interesting way for more Ohioans to use soil tests in their efforts to grow better crops for profit and beauty.

Braves Edge Unioto, 7-6

A punt return by Rod Howard and Wes King's toe propelled the Logan Elm Braves to a 7-6 win over visiting Unioto Friday and sole possession of second place in the Scioto Valley Conference.

It rained constantly throughout the game and it turned into a defensive battle. The Braves limited Unioto's ground attack to 35 yards, and Randy Sprouse, one of the more talented runners in the league to just 25 yards.

The Braves also stopped the highly touted aerial attack of the Shermans, limiting them to 80 yards through the air on three of 20 completions. However, Unioto's lone touchdown was a 35-yard strike from quarterback B. J. Dailey to split end Steve Chester.

Unioto won the toss of the coin and elected to receive the opening kickoff of the game. Starting from their own 28-yard line they were able to advance the ball to the 45 where they were forced to punt.

THE kick slipped off the side of Dailey's foot and traveled only 15 yards from the line of scrimmage to the Logan Elm 40, where Howard gathered it in and danced 60 yards down the left sideline to paydirt.

The score came with eight minutes to go in the first quarter. Wes King kicked the extra point that turned out to be the margin of difference in the tilt.

The Shermans, after returning the ensuing kickoff to the 26 yard line, lost three yards in three plays and got off a 30-yard boot.

The Braves went for the bomb on the first play, a wandering quarterback play that fooled everybody. LE lined up but after barking his first signals, quarterback Steve Sargent started walking to the left sideline.

The center snap went to Gary Francis, Sargent broke into a run and was on the receiving end of a 27-yard pass. It would have gone for a touchdown except for the slippery footing and Sargent was tackled at the 20. From there the Braves could penetrate only to the 16 and had to give up the ball on downs there.

The Shermans got a first down on a halfback draw by Spouse, but were held again and had to punt.

THIS time Howard gathered the ball in about the 25 yard line and went all the way only to have the play called back when an official called clipping against the Braves.

The quarter ended two plays later, and on the second play of the second quarter, the Braves had to punt. But the LE defense again stymied the Shermans who in turn had to boot the ball away.

Starting at their own 36-yard line, Logan Elm mounted a drive that moved the ball to the Unioto 10. But an illegal use of the hands penalty set the Braves back to the 25 where it was first and 25. They moved back to the nine, but could get no further, turning the ball over to the Shermans.

The Shermans moved out to the 42 where they were stopped and forced to punt. Two plays later the Braves fumbled and lost the ball at their own 40, but the Shermans fumbled three plays later and the elusive pigskin was pounced on by LE middle guard Mike Williams. However, time ran out in the half before Logan Elm could get a serious threat underway.

At halftime, Unioto had completed two of eight passes for 36 yards and had gained 27 yards rushing. The Braves had completed one of five aerials for 27 yards and had gained 55 yards rushing.

The second half belonged to the defensive units of both teams just as the first half did.

where a series of penalties stopped them and with a fourth and 21 at the 35 Doug Marshall had to punt for the Braves. His kick went to Unioto's 39 yard line.

And from there the Shermans mounted their only scoring drive. The first play was stopped at the line of scrimmage. A penalty against Logan Elm advanced the ball to the 44. Sprouse carried twice, moving to the 50 on the first and to the LE 39 on the second. Dailey carried to the 37, Marty Lambert to the 35 and with third and five at that point, Dailey uncorked his scoring aerial to Chester.

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—For the second time in as many weeks slump-ridden Arnold Palmer held the lead after two rounds of a major golf tournament.

"This time," the 43-year-old master said, "I just hope I can keep it going for two more days."

The comment was a reference to last week's Kaiser International when he led by two strokes after 36 holes, then blew it with two poor rounds on the weekend.

It was the fourth time this season he had been in position to win and had failed, and it extended one of the longest, most dismal, frustrating slumps of his career to some 15 months.

Friday he put together a two-under-par 69 for a two-round total of 134—eight under par.

He was tied with a pair of the game's new breed, rookies John Mahaffey and Lanny Wadkins, each seeking his first title. Mahaffey, 24, had a sparkling 66 that included eight birdies, and the 22-year-old Wadkins, who went to Wake Forest on an Arnold Palmer scholarship, had a 69.

Teays Valley Title Hopes Dimmed By Dublin In 27-7 Metro Game

By DAVE AMEY
Herald Staff Writer

Dublin's Shamrocks scored four touchdowns in bursts of two each to smash Teays Valley's hopes of a Metro League crown and hand the Vikings a 27-7 loss at the Dublin Field Friday night.

The host Shamrocks scored early in the game on a 65-yard scoring run and then capitalized on three Viking errors for three more touchdowns before the first half had ended.

But the story of the game was defense. Dublin held the powerful Viking ground attack to just 64 yards, while four Shamrock backs gained 245 yards to control the game.

Dublin scored with 2:02 left in the first period when Charlie Simon rolled for 65 yards untouched around his right end after a fake up the middle. Brian Lewis supplied the extra point.

THEN Dublin's Ken Writsel recovered a TV fumble on their first play after the score to hand the Shamrocks the ball on TV's 29-yard line. Six plays later, and on the first play of the second period, Frank Bohanan took a quick pitch going to his left and cut back to the middle for a 13-yard scoring run. The kick made the score 14-0.

The Vikings fought back and on the third play following the Dublin score, quarterback Chuck Glitt caught the Shamrocks in a partial blitz and fired a 74-yard pass and run to Terry Lambert for the Vikings only TD. Sabine provided the extra point.

Dublin took the onside kick on their 40-yard line and rolled for another score 11 plays later when Simon charged around the right side for seven yards. The kick made the score 21-7.

Simon was the key in the last score, also. Playing middle linebacker, he stepped in front of a Glitt pass three plays later and picked it off on the Viking 28.

Seven plays later, Greiner plunged over from the one foot out for the final score of the game.

The Viking defense stopped Dublin cold on three plays to open the game, but the Shamrocks turned the trick on Teays Valley as both teams traded punts in the early going.

BUT the Viking's punt, with Glitt doing the booting, rolled 52 yards and placed Dublin on their 14-yard line.

They punted again in three plays and the Vikings took the ball on the Dublin 45-yard line to record the first break of the game.

Three running plays took the ball to the 37-yard line where on fourth down and one yard to go for the first, TV lined up in a running offense. However, a Vike jumped off-sides to make it fourth and six. Glitt punted to the Dublin 15.

Shamrock quarterback Todd Greiner called on speedster Frank Bohanan for outside runs to the left and right and two power crosses for the first two first downs of the game on four plays.

He faked to Bohanan on the next play, but tailback Kent Withey was thrown for a two-yard loss on a right sweep.

However, Greiner belied the ball to Simon on a naked rollout on the next play after faking to Bohanan in the line and the junior fullback scampered 65 yards for a touchdown almost before the Vikings knew he had the ball.

TEAYS Valley took the kick off on their 29-yard line and on their first offensive play of the series, Glitt tried to handoff on a busted play and Ken Writsel recovered on the Viking 29 yard line.

Five running plays later the first quarter ended. But on the first play of the second quarter, Bohanan took a quick pitch moving to his left on a power sweep, cut back when the Vikings met the interference and swerved in for the second touchdown of the night.

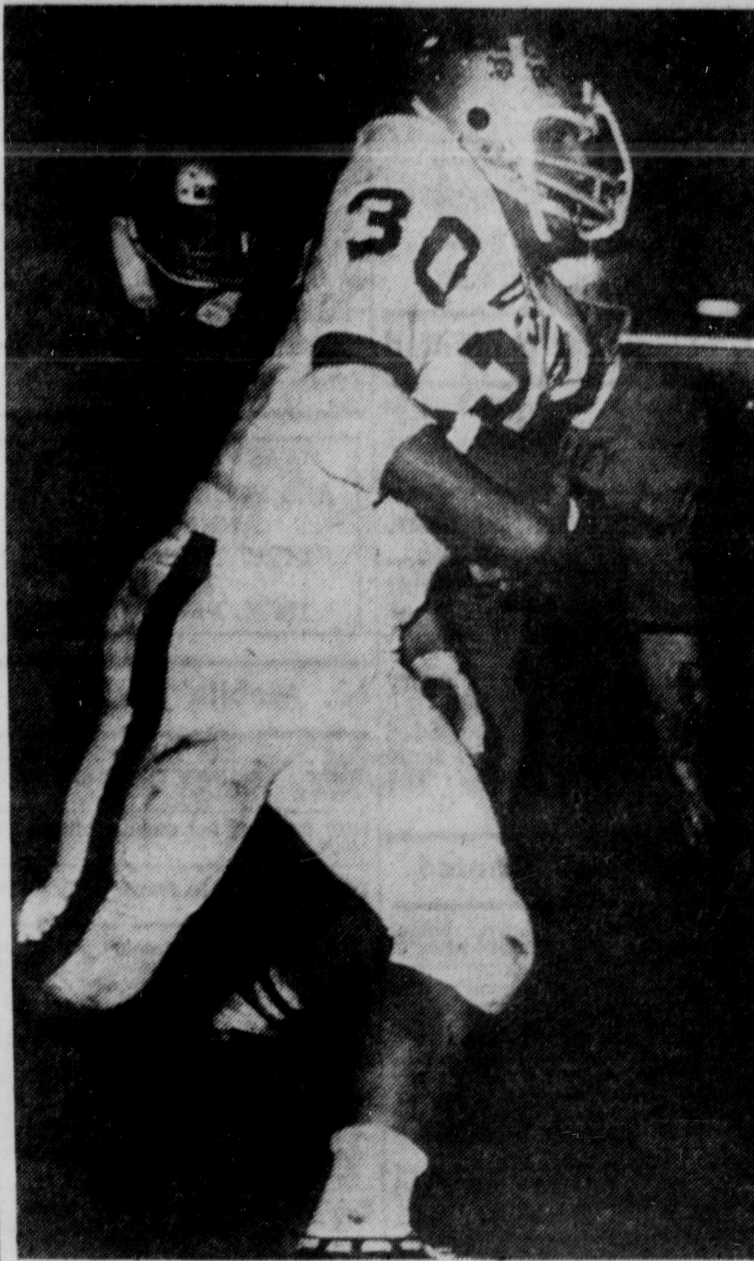

The Vikings took the next kick on their 21 yard line, but a holding penalty moved the ball back to the TV 11.

Glitt spotted Chris Brenton cutting over the middle on the next play and the ensuing pass was nearly intercepted. However, the overanxious secondary was charged with interference and the Vikings had their first down of the game.

Ken Stewart, the Vikings stalwart rusher, got a yard on his first carry of the game. Then Glitt hit Lambert with a lazy floater over the Dublin secondary that Lambert was forced to wait on. He took the pass, stepped from the grasp of the cornerback and raced 74 yards with the Vikings only score.

DUBLIN took Teays Valley's onside kick on their 40 and moved for the score in the longest sustained drive of the night.

The Shamrocks made three first downs in the drive, including one on a 15-yard pass play, before Simon rolled seven yards around his right end for the score.

Teays Valley, down 21-7 at this point, took to the air in an effort to build their point total.

However, Simon stepped in front of a Glitt aerial intended for Lambert and had the interception three plays after his second score on the TV 28-yard line.

The Vikings defense held Dublin to just three yards in three plays. On a fourth down and seven, quarterback Greiner's low pass was nabbed by Jeff Gafford on the Viking one after a fine, twisting catch.

Simon was stopped on two power smashes, but Greiner faked to his fullback on the next play and followed Bohanan around the left side for the final touchdown.

THE Vikings mounted the only other scoring threat in the contest as both teams were impotent in the second half.

Sophomore quarterback Steve Williams directed the Viking's all of the final quarter and marched them 60 yards in 15 plays.

He actually hit Lance Henson with a 15-yard scoring pass, but the play was nullified by a penalty.

Lambert was the leading Viking ground gainer, picking up 25 yards in 10 carries. Stewart showed 19 yards in just six carries, and Glitt was minus 15 yards in three tries.

Steve Clark had three yards in two carries, Craig Zeimer had eight yards in three carries, Williams had minus five yards in four carries, Bill Breon had three yards in three tries. Ted Ross gained one yard in three tries, and Elmer Hines picked up 23 yards in just two carries.

Glitt was five for 12 passing with 109 yards and one touchdown.

Williams connected on two of four passes for 17 yards.

SIMON gained 102 yards in 15 carries for Dublin. Bohanan had 89 yards in 17 plays. Greiner showed 28 yards in six carries. Kent Withey had nine yards in five tries and Gary Miller had 17 yards in two carries.

Greiner hit on two of six passes for 37 yards.

The win ups Dublin's season record to 8-0. They are 4-0 in Metro League play and have the crown cinched.

Teays Valley drops its season mark to 5-3. The Vikings are 3-2 in Metro League action.

They play their final game of the season Friday when they host Hamilton Twp., doormat of the league who has not won a game this year.

Cincinnati Reds Shuffle Personnel

CINCINNATI (AP)—Outfielder Ted Uhlaender, obtained last year in a trade with the Cleveland Indians for pitcher Milt Wilcox, has been assigned outright to the Indianapolis Indians by the Cincinnati Reds.

Uhlaender hit only .159 and was used mainly for pinch-hitting.

The Reds also sent outfielder Al Crawford down to Indianapolis.

Cincinnati added pitchers Will McEaney and Santo Alcala and catcher Bob Barton to their major league roster Friday.

During the regular American League season the Boston Red Sox won nine of 12 games with the Oakland Athletics.

Braves Edge Unioto, 7-6

Teays Valley Title Hopes Dimmed
By Dublin In 27-7 Metro Game

A punt return by Rod Howard and Wes King's toe propelled the Logan Elm Braves to a 7-6 win over visiting Unioto Friday and sole possession of second place in the Scioto Valley Conference.

It rained constantly throughout the game and it turned into a defensive battle. The Braves limited Unioto's ground attack to 35 yards, and Randy Sprouse, one of the more talented runners in the league to just 25 yards.

The Braves also stopped the highly touted aerial attack of the Shermans, limiting them to 80 yards through the air on three of 20 completions. However, Unioto's lone touchdown was a 35-yard strike from quarterback B. J. Dailey to split end Steve Chester.

Unioto won the toss of the coin and elected to receive the opening kickoff of the game. Starting from their own 28-yard line they were able to advance the ball to the 45 where they were forced to punt.

THE kick slipped off the side of Dailey's foot and traveled only 15 yards from the line of scrimmage to the Logan Elm 40, where Howard gathered it in and danced 60 yards down the left sideline to paydirt.

The score came with eight minutes to go in the first quarter. Wes King kicked the extra point that turned out to be the margin of difference in the tilt.

The Shermans, after returning the ensuing kickoff to the 26 yard line, lost three yards in three plays and got off a 39-yard boot.

The Braves went for the bomb on the first play, a wandering quarterback play that fooled everybody. LE lined up but, after barking his first signals, quarterback Steve Sargent started walking to the left sideline.

The center snap went to Gary Francis, Sargent broke into a run and was on the receiving end of a 27-yard pass. It would have gone for a touchdown except for the slippery footing and Sargent was tackled at the 20. From there the Braves could penetrate only to the 16 and had to give up the ball on downs there.

The Shermans got a first down on a halfback draw by Spouse, but were held again and had to punt.

THIS time Howard gathered the ball in about the 25 yard line and went all the way only to have the play called back when an official called clipping against the Braves.

The quarter ended two plays later, and on the second play of the second quarter, the Braves had to punt. But the LE defense again stymied the Shermans who in turn had to boot the ball away.

Starting at their own 35-yard line, Logan Elm mounted a drive that moved the ball to the Unioto 10. But an illegal use of the hands penalty set the Braves back to the 25 where it was first and 25. They moved back to the nine, but could get no further, turning the ball over to the Shermans.

Dublin's Shamrocks scored four touchdowns in bursts of two each to smash Teays Valley's hopes of a Metro League crown and hand the Vikings a 27-7 loss at the Dublin Field Friday night.

The host Shamrocks scored early in the game on a 65-yard scoring run and then capitalized on three Viking errors for three more touchdowns before the first half had ended.

But the story of the game was defense. Dublin held the powerful Viking ground attack to just 64 yards, while four Shamrock backs gained 245 yards to control the game.

Dublin scored with 2:02 left in the first period when Charlie Simon rolled for 65 yards untouched around his right end after a fake up the middle. Brian Lewis supplied the extra point.

THEN Dublin's Ken Writsel recovered a TV fumble on their first play after the score to hand the Shamrocks the ball on TV's 29-yard line. Six plays later, and on the first play of the second period, Frank Bohanan took a quick pitch going to his left and cut back to the middle for a 13-yard scoring run. The kick made the score 14-0.

The Vikings fought back and on the third play following the Dublin score, quarterback Chuck Glitt caught the Shamrocks in a partial blitz and fired a 74-yard pass and run to Terry Lambert for the Vikings only TD. Sabine provided the extra point.

Dublin took the onside kick on their 40-yard line and rolled for another score 11 plays later when Simon charged around the right side for seven yards. The kick made the score 21-7.

Simon was the key in the last score, also. Playing middle linebacker, he stepped in front of a Glitt pass three plays later and picked it off on the Viking 28.

Seven plays later, Greiner plunged over from the one foot out for the final score of the game.

The Viking defense stopped Dublin cold on three plays to open the game, but the Shamrocks turned the trick on Teays Valley as both teams traded punts in the early going.

BUT the Viking's punt, with Glitt doing the booting, rolled 52 yards and placed Dublin on their 14-yard line.

They punted again in three plays and the Vikings took the ball on the Dublin 45-yard line to record the first break of the game.

Three running plays took the ball to the 37-yard line where on fourth down and one yard to go for the first, TV lined up in a running offense. However, a Vike jumped off-sides to make it fourth and six. Glitt punted to the Dublin 15.

Shamrock quarterback Todd Greiner called on speedster Frank Bohanan for outside runs to the left and right and two power crosses for the first two first downs of the game on four plays.

He faked to Bohanan on the next play, but tailback Kent Witchey was thrown for a two-yard loss on a right sweep.

However, Greiner belied the ball to Simon on a naked rollout on the next play after faking to Bohanan in the line and the junior fullback scampered 65 yards for a touchdown almost before the Vikings knew he had the ball.

TEAYS Valley took the kick off on their 29-yard line and on their first offensive play of the series, Glitt tried to handoff on a busted play and Ken Writsel recovered on the Viking 29 yard line.

Five running plays later the first quarter ended. But on the first play of the second quarter, Bohanan took a quick pitch moving to his left on a power sweep, cut back when the Vikings met the interference and swerved in for the second touchdown of the night.

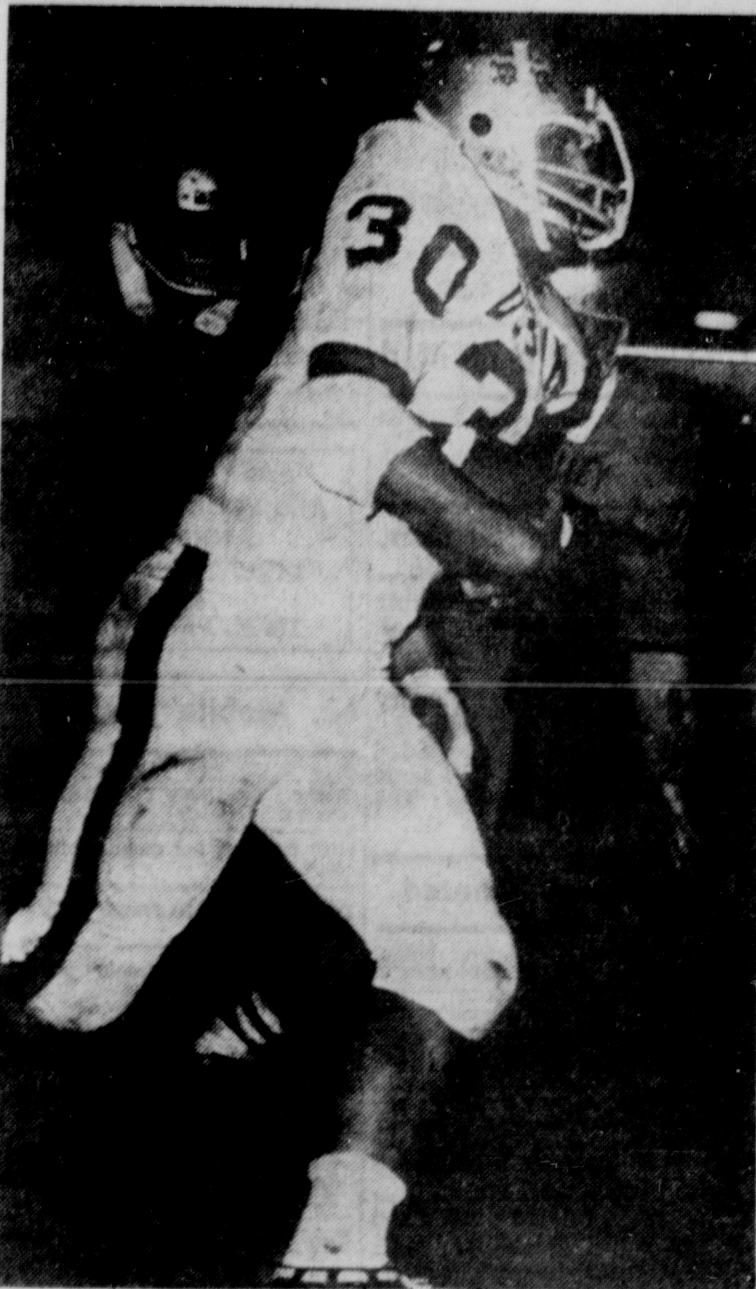

The Vikings took the next kick on their 21 yard line, but a holding penalty moved the ball back to the TV 11.

Glitt spotted Chris Brenton cutting over the middle on the next play and the ensuing pass was nearly intercepted. However, the overanxious secondary was charged with interference and the Vikings had their first down of the game.

Ken Stewart, the Vikings stalwart rusher, got a yard on his first carry of the game.

Then Glitt hit Lambert with a lazy floater over the Dublin secondary that Lambert was forced to wait on. He took the pass, stepped from the grasp of the cornerback and raced 74 yards with the Vikings only score.

DUBLIN took Teays Valley's onside kick on their 40 and moved for the score in the longest sustained drive of the night. The Shamrocks made three

DUBLIN LEADER—Charlie Simon (30) played an outstanding game for Dublin last night. The junior fullback scored two touchdowns, one of 65 yards and one, pictured above, of seven yards, picked up 109 yards rushing and intercepted a pass to set up another Shamrock score. Trying to catch the Dublin star is Jerry Sabine and an unidentified Viking.

Westfall Loses To Astros, 16-0

Westfall's offense couldn't penetrate deeper than the East Clinton 25-yard line Friday and the visiting Astros managed to get on the score board three times for a 16-0 win.

because of a field goal from the 25 yard line. The kick by East Clinton's Mike Walvoord traveled a total of 35 yards and came with just six seconds to go in the half.

The attempt was set up when Westfall gambled on a fourth down deep in their own territory and failed to make enough yardage for the first down.

Early in the third quarter Mike Fox scored for the visitors on a 30-yard run and Walvoord added the placement for a 10-0 lead.

In the fourth quarter, a 6-yard pass from Perry Whittington to Jim Morris added another six points to the score board. An attempt for the two point conversion by Bob Olds was stopped short of the goal line.

Artie Dick, Tim Hergarty and Randy Puckett were the leading tacklers from Westfall with 12, 11 and 10 respectively.

first downs in the drive, including one on a 15-yard pass play, before Simon rolled seven yards around his right end for the score.

Teays Valley, down 21-7 at this point, took to the air in an effort to build their point total.

However, Simon stepped in front of a Glitt aerial intended for Lambert and had the interception three plays after his second score on the TV 28-yard line.

The Vikings defense held Dublin to just three yards in three plays. On a fourth down and seven, quarterback Greiner's low pass was nabbed by Jeff Gafford on the Viking one after a fine, twisting catch.

Simon was stopped on two power smashes, but Greiner faked to his fullback on the next play and followed Bohanan around the left side for the final touchdown.

THE Vikings mounted the only other scoring threat in the contest as both teams were impotent in the second half.

Sophomore quarterback Steve Williams directed the Viking's all of the final quarter and marched them 60 yards in 15 plays.

He actually hit Lance Henson with a 15-yard scoring pass, but the play was nullified by a penalty.

Lambert was the leading Viking ground gainer, picking up 25 yards in 10 carries. Stewart showed 19 yards in just six carries, and Glitt was minus 15 yards in three tries.

Steve Clark had three yards in two carries, Craig Zeimer had eight yards in three carries, Williams had minus five yards in four carries, Bill Breon had three yards in three tries. Ted Ross gained one yard in three tries, and Elmer Hines picked up 23 yards in just two carries.

Glitt was five for 12 passing with 109 yards and one touchdown.

Williams connected on two of four passes for 17 yards.

SIMON gained 102 yards in 15 carries for Dublin. Bohanan had 89 yards in 17 plays. Greiner showed 28 yards in six carries, Kent Witchey had nine yards in five tries and Gary Miller had 17 yards in two carries.

Greiner hit on two of six passes for 37 yards.

The win ups Dublin's season record to 8-0. They are 4-0 in Metro League play and have the crown cinched.

Teays Valley drops its season mark to 5-3. The Vikings are 3-2 in Metro League action.

They play their final game of the season Friday when they host Hamilton Twp., doormat of the league who has not won a game this year.

CHS Takes Title; Three Teams Tie For Second Spot

Circleville won the South Central Ohio League championship Friday night while Washington C. H. and Wilmington came up with wins to make it a three way tie for second.

The Red and Black rolled over Miami Trace, 24-7, to drop the Panthers into a tie for second place in the final standings.

Washington C. H. bombed Greenfield, 29-6, behind the running of Chuck Wilson. Wilmington romped over winless Hillsboro, 46-0, with Jackie Wilson leading the way.

Cincinnati Reds Shuffle Personnel

CINCINNATI (AP)—Outfielder Ted Uhlaender, obtained last year in a trade with the Cleveland Indians for pitcher Milt Wilcox, has been assigned outright to the Indianapolis Indians by the Cincinnati Reds.

Uhlaender hit only .159 and was used mainly for pinch-hitting.

The Reds also sent outfielder Al Crawford down to Indianapolis.

Cincinnati added pitchers Will McEnaney and Santo Alcala and catcher Bob Barton to their major league roster Friday.

During the regular American League season the Boston Red Sox won nine of 12 games with the Oakland Athletics.

Cleveland Crusaders Blank Alberta Oilers
CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — "This club is making me look like a genius," said Cleveland Crusaders Coach Bill Needham Friday night after his team blanked the Alberta Oilers 6-0 in World Hockey Association play.
"I just sit back and watch them work," said the Cleveland skipper whose club exploded for four goals in the second period to make it easy for goalie Gerry Chevers to post his second shutout of the season and reduce his goals-allowed average to 1.53.

Happiness is having members of your family who live many miles away to come home for several days and so it has been for Arthur Frazier, one of our town's better known and highly respected octogenarians.
Daughter Helen and her mate
Ray Shoemaker and son Ray Frazier of Angola, Indiana, daughter Margaret and husband
R. J. Hargis, Jr. of Panama
City, Florida, daughter Mildred
(Mrs. Dan Jording) of Dayton all departed for their respective homes today (Thursday).
Another son, Edwin Frazier spends much time with his father and enjoyed the pleasure of his sisters, their mates and his brother's company, too.

The home of Carl and Ruth Long is settling back into daily routine after a weekend of merriment and gaiety of having daughter Bonnie, a senior nursing student at Holzer
Hospital and her house guests,
Sandy Johnson of Middleport, Jami Folsom (a junior at Holzer) from West Portsmouth, and Joy Kimble (a senior sister) of Jackson, and son Randi Long, a freshman at the University of Ky., Lexington.

Ky. They were all here for the Great Pumpkin Show and while here several of Bonnie and Randi's friends also stopped by the house.

Roy and Catherine Brayshaw of New Brighton, Pa. spent the weekend with his mama Agnes Brayshaw (lovingly known as Grandma B.) and also his sister
Pearl and her loving Pete Cochenour.

Never let it be said that the willingness to work for one's school is dead—Katie List could be found three days in a row giving her all at the Westfall Booster booth. Others worked two days but three days takes the prize.

Helen Porter and son Jimmy of Columbus weekendend with sister Sue Graffis and her tribe, Johnny, Chuckie, John Allen
(the monster) and Teresa.

Coming in from Xenia were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cyphers to enjoy the Pumpkin Show with good friends Dallas and Clarabelle Valentine.

Out at the Lawrence and Dorothy Carle spread all was gung-ho for the show with what daughter Donna and a Good Samaritan classmate, Kathy Seiba of Cincy and son Tom of Cleveland and his friend Lauren Britt of Painesville here for the fun. On Sunday it was family dinner time and additional guests were grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bumgarner of Ashville, Randy and Martha McCoy and the only Carle grandchild Beth Ann of New Holland, Chuck Matthews of Canton and Janet, Mike, Jim, Rosemary, Pat and Donald (my buddy).

From far and wide they come for the fabulous four days of the Pumpkin reign and "Sis" Corcoran was hostess to her Aunt Margaret McCristy of El Centro, California, her sister-in-law Mrs. Miriam Moore and nephew Bradley Moore who flew in from Jacksonville, North Carolina.

After the Pumpkin days comes Festival of the Leaves at Bainbridge and on Sunday

this writer, daughters Becki (aka Birfy) and Carmen
Villaneuva, niece Cindy Mc-Clure of Londonderry and my mama, Mrs. Earl Hardman of Chillicothe went down by way of Greenfield and Route 41—the hills, changing leaves and other flora and fauna—beautiful! On our return trip home we passed Jack and Aunt Gladys Arledge on their way down. You missed the parade, Aunt Gladys! It was a really nice one, too.

UNICEF

Word from Jean (Mrs. Ray) Valone is that the annual UNICEF "trick or treat" originating from the United Methodist Church will be held Sunday evening, Oct. 29 beginning at 5 p.m. All children (any age) of the community are invited to participate and collect pennies for this most worthwhile cause. Adults will accompany the youngsters on their rounds thru the village. By the way, any adult interested in helping is indeed welcome and should get in contact with Mrs. Valone or Mrs. H. H. (Mary Lee) Stevens if possible or come to the church at 5 p.m.

TRICK OR TREAT

As stated in a previous column, Monday evening, Oct.

$5.6 Million Suit Follows Construction Disruption

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A $5.6 million damage suit was filed in U.S. District Court
Thursday against the Columbus Building Trades Council, the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and 15 labor leaders for losses allegedly resulting from recent labor demonstrations.
The action, lodged jointly by the Associated General Contractors and the Masonry Contractors Association, contends the work stoppages by building tradesmen have cost contractors more than $1 million.
They seek $1.4 million in compensation and $1.2 million in punitive damages.
The contractors also asked the court to define their legal rights and prevent further work stoppages on union jobs.
The associations said building trades demonstrations in September and mob violence on several construction sites
Tuesday amounted to a pattern which was "accelerating."

The demonstrations have been held to protest use of non-union labor on construction jobs. Vandalism that accompanied demonstrations Tuesday caused an estimated $500,000 damage to four projects.

The Ohio Contractors Association said its members, all union contractors, lost about $100,000 Tuesday because tradesmen failed to report for work that day.

Meanwhile, John Scales,
president of the trades council, said Thursday its members will face fines or suspension if they take part in any more demonstrations such as those Tuesday.

His warning came after a National Labor Relations Board spokesman announced the board is seeking a federal court injunction against what was described as "illegal secondary boycott activities."

Basic Chinese Health Care Good, Red Physician Says

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The leader of 12 Chinese doctors visiting the United States says more than 100,000 doctors and health workers have moved from cities into rural areas in his nation to bring basic health care to millions of countrymen.

"We have achieved great progress," Dr. Wu Wei-jan told physicians, surgeons and facultary members from three Kansas
City area medical schools
Thursday night.

But he said medical equipment is still inadequate in quality and quantity and in some things "we must learn from your advanced experience, as well as from other countries."

In one Shanghai hospital, he said, more than 240 operations have been performed to sew back fingers and hands severed by accidents, and more than half of these have been successful.

Acupuncture involving special needles for anesthesia during surgery "is safe and effective under many conditions. But in some cases it is not satisfactory and needs to be perfected.

We need to keep on with some basic research," the 52-year-old surgeon said.

For two weeks the Chinese have been visiting U.S. medical and health care institutions under the sponsorship of the Institute of Medicine of the National Academy of Sciences and the American Medical Association. Their visit will end Nov.
1 in San Francisco.

Dr. Wu said that "before liberation" in China, meaning the advent of the Peoples Republic of China, medical care was for only the wealthy, privileged few in cities, "and drugs and medical equipment had to be imported."

Now, most infectious diseases have been eliminated, and health care has been taken into the rural areas and communes, he said.

overweight?

PATRICK J. CONWAY

"I lost 40 pounds in 13 weeks. You can lose 20 pounds before Christmas," says Patrick J.
Conway

Dear Friend:
After being overweight for 10 years I lost 40 pounds in 13 weeks. That was over 5 years ago and I've never regained any of that weight.

It was a familiar story, a little overweight, followed by growing self-consciousness, followed by less social and physical activity, followed by still more weight gains.

I've found from study and experience that it takes three things to lose weight and stay slim. The first is a satisfying, diet that is balanced nutritionally and low in calories. You can't fool around with potatoes, oil, butter and spaghetti, or eat large quantities of unpleasant foods and get really good weight losses. It simply can't be done.

The third thing is intelligent motivation, a program that appeals to your dignity and intelligence, that reawakens your real self-interest, and that continually strengthens your sense of purpose.

I think you'll find all three
— a remarkably effective diet, knowledge and motivation —
at our weekly Insight Seminars.
They are real keys to permanent weight loss.

There's just eight weeks until the Christmas Holidays. You can lose at least 20 pounds before then if you start now. I hope we'll see you at our Insight Seminar this coming week.

Sincerely,

R. V. (the big seven) Hammon, Jay Clark, Jan Vincent, (in memory) Scott Oakley, Rosemarie Mosley, Waldo Murrette, Ann Reid, Cindy Liff, Stacey Eitel, Oct. 30; Karen Dean and spouse Jim (he is Westfall School Board proxy) both have the same spooky birth date, Wyatt Fraas, Oct. 31; Richard Lemaster, John Valone, Betty Riddle, John Howard Grigsby, Cecil Williams, Beth Ann Eiselstein, Nov. 1; Charles Wallace, Sheree Christopher, Ann Towler, Gene Long, Big Timmy Bush, Terry Ferguson, Beverly Musselman, Debonair Tim Brigner, Nov. 2; Frank Akers, Masha Reynolds Clark, Charles Thatcher, Christine Shipley, Nov. 3; Max Earl Walker, Billy Miller, Nov. 4; Joyce Tarbill, Terry Hanson, Betty Shaffer, Art Dick, Arizona Francis, Herschel Litter, George Myers, Verna Mossbarger Grabbill, Brenda Ford, Steve Dountz, Jimmy Clark, Nov. 5.

Happiness is having members of your family who live many miles away to come home for several days and so it has been for Arthur Frazier, one of our town's better known and highly respected octogenarians. Daughter Helen and her mate Ray Shoemaker and son Ray Frazier of Angola, Indiana, daughter Margaret and husband R. J. Hargis, Jr. of Panama City, Florida, daughter Mildred (Mrs. Dan Jording) of Dayton all departed for their respective homes today (Thursday). Another son, Edwin Frazier spends much time with his father and enjoyed the pleasure of his sisters, their mates and his brother's company, too.

The home of Carl and Ruth Long is settling back into daily routine after a weekend of merriment and gaiety of having daughter Bonnie, a senior nursing student at Holzer Hospital and her house guests, Sandy Johnson of Middleport, Jamit Folsom (a junior at Holzer) from West Portsmouth, and Joy Kimble (a senior sister) of Jackson, and son Randi Long, a freshman at the University of Ky., Lexington.

Ky. They were all here for the Great Pumpkin Show and while here several of Bonnie and Randi's friends also stopped by the house.

Roy and Catherine Brayshaw of New Brighton, Pa. spent the weekend with his mama Agnes Brayshaw (lovingly known as Grandma B.) and also his sister Pearl and her loving Pete Cochenour.

Never let it be said that the willingness to work for one's school is dead—Katie List could be found three days in a row giving her all at the Westfall Booster booth. Others worked two days but three days takes the prize.

Helen Porter and son Jimmy of Columbus weekendened with sister Sue Graffis and her tribe, Johnny, Chuckie, John Allen (the monster) and Teresa.

Coming in from Xenia were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cyphers to enjoy the Pumpkin Show with good friends Dallas and Clarabelle Valentine.

Out at the Lawrence and Dorothy Carle spread all was gung-ho for the show what with daughter Donna and a Good Samaritan classmate, Kathy Seiba of Cincy and son Tom of Cleveland and his friend Laureen Britt of Painesville here for the fun. On Sunday it was family dinner time and additional guests were grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bumgarner of Ashville, Randy and Martha McCoy and the only Carle grandchild Beth Ann of New Holland, Chuck Matthews of Canton and Janet, Mike, Jim, Rosemary, Pat and Donald (my buddy).

From far and wide they come for the fabulous four days of the Pumpkin reign and "Sis" Corcoran was hostess to her Aunt Margaret McCristy of El Centro, California, her sister-in-law Mrs. Miriam Moore and nephew Bradley Moore who flew in from Jacksonville, North Carolina.

After the Pumpkin days comes Festival of the Leaves at Bainbridge and on Sunday this writer, daughters Becki (aka Birly) and Carmen Villaneuva, niece Cindy McClure of Londonderry and my mama, Mrs. Earl Hardman of Chillicothe went down by way of Greenfield and Route 41—the hills, changing leaves and other flora and fauna—beautiful! On our return trip home we passed Jack and Aunt Gladys Arledge on their way down. You missed the parade, Aunt Gladys! It was a really nice one, too.

UNICEF

Word from Jean (Mrs. Ray) Valone is that the annual UNICEF "trick or treat" originating from the United Methodist Church will be held Sunday evening, Oct. 29 beginning at 5 p.m. All children (any age) of the community are invited to participate and collect pennies for this most worthwhile cause. Adults will accompany the youngsters on their rounds thru the village. By the way, any adult interested in helping is indeed welcome and should get in contact with Mrs. Valone or Mrs. H. H. (Mary Lee) Stevens if possible or come to the church at 5 p.m.
